GRACE CHURCH RECTORY

Building Committee Have Selected Plans and Expect to Build in the Spring

For over a year the members of Grace Church have been considering plans for a rectory and a Building committee consisting of Mr. Charles E. Riley, chairman, and Messrs. Frank M. Sheldon, William E. Jones, J. Harris

PROPOSED NEW RECTORY FOR GRACE CHURCH.

Aubin, John H. Sellman and Walter R. Forbush have been at work selecting plans and raising the necessary funds. As a result of their labors plans prepared by Mr. Hubert G. Ripley have been approved and it is hoped to begin actual building operations in the early spring. The accompanying cut gives an idea of Mr. Ripley's conception of the new building and its relation to the present church edifice.

It is the intention to build the rectory of stone to harmonize with the stone of which the church is built, using for this purpose certain selections of seam face granite and Brighton stone, limestone or granite stone for trimmings, belt courses, copings, etc. The roof will be slate to match the roof of the church. The building is to be sixty-six feet long with an monize with the corresponding motives in the church and Parish House. The windows are mullioned and of a simple character to the Parish House windows and divided by muntins. The front door is approximately opposite the transept of the church, in front of which is an open veranda and adjoining a glazed sun room from which the sash may be removed in the summer, and screens substituted. The first floor contains a staircase hall fourteen by twenty-two feet, on one side of which is a Living Room fifteen by twenty feet and the sun room; on the other side is the Dining Room fifteen feet square with a large mullioned bay window giving access to the connecting cloister. Pantries, kitchen and service stairs take up the remainder of the first floor.

ing, and the building will be wired for electricity and gas stove. The floors will be hardwood and the finish in general white paint. The entire building is to be kept quite plain and simple, both inside and out, relying on the proportions and the use of good material, and only just enough detail to make it fittingly appropriate for its location and use.

All of the rooms throughout the house have a southerly exposure and an abundance of sunlight throughout the day, and the yard and approaches may readily be so graded and planted by means of shrubbery and herbaceous borders as to not only make a fitting setting for an ecclesiastical residence, but also to give the requisite amount of privacy required for family uses.

The rectory will cost about $20,000.

NEWTON CEMETERY CORPORATION

MR. WALLEY DEAD

The fifty-ninth Annual Meeting of the Newton Cemetery Corporation was held in the Chapel in the cemetery grounds on Wednesday, February 5th, at 4 o'clock P. M.

The annual reports were read, showing the cemetery to be in prosperous condition, with the largest lot sales for any year.

The newer graded sections have developed some of the choicest locations, and are being taken up by many prominent citizens.

The following Trustees and Officers were elected: Hon. George Hutchinson, Warren P. Tyler, Francis Murdock, Charles W. Ross, Frank A. Mason, George M. Fliske, Henry B. Day, Wm. M. Flanders, Seward W. Jones; President, Hon. George Hutchinson; Vice President, Warren P. Tyler; Treasurer and Superintendent, H. Willson Ross; Clerk and Auditor, Geo. W. Auryansen; Assistant Superintendent, Nils H. Mattson.

Mr. Henshaw Bates Walley died at some on Ballard street, Newton Centre, early Friday morning of angina pectoris, after a brief illness.

Mr. Walley was born in Roxbury in 1838, the son of Samuel H. and Mehitable Sumner Bates Walley. He received his early education in the Roxbury schools and entered Harvard in 1855, remaining until the early part of his senior year, when ill-health forced him to abandon his full course at the university. He later went West and was employed in a bank at Toloun, Ill., in which town in 1862 he joined a corps of cadets for service in the Civil War. He served for some time as paymaster with the rank of major. Part of his service was on the steamship Cumberland.

After the war Mr. Walley returned to Boston and reentered Harvard and took his A. B. degree and then began a business career as a stock broker in Boston. He continued in this for about ten years, when ill-health again interfered and he gave up his active business, but devoted some of his time to the care of property as trustee.

He was a member of the Union and St. Botolph Clubs. He was a bachelor and is survived by two sisters and two brothers, Miss Abbie B. P. Walley of Boston and Miss Hetty Walley of Newton Centre; Bates Walley of that place and Edward Walley of Boston.

The funeral services were held at his late home on Monday, Rev. Edward T. Sullivan, rector of Trinity Church, officiating, and the interment was at Mt. Auburn.

The occasion was complimentary to Mrs. Gould's sister, Miss Wunch of Detroit, Mich., who is spending the winter season here. It was a very delightful social affair and the costumes were both elaborate and handsome.

A pleasing program of music was furnished by Miss Niver and about 25 couples participated in the well arranged order of dances.

At the close of the dancing, the guests unmasked and repaired to the dining-hall where an excellent menu was served under the direction of Miss Eleanor Hooper.

The membership increased 79 last month. Remember, Mr. Member, that you have a duty to perform. "ONE NEW MEMBER THIS YEAR."

A New Record

Thirty-eight men were accommodated in the dormitories last week. There is room for two more. Here is an opportunity to make a new record.

PHYSICAL DEPARTMENT

The work in the Physical Department has kept up to the high standard of December. There has been much competition with good success to our teams.

The Physical Department stands for an opportunity for every man to increase his efficiency for safeguarding his health, oiling up the physical machinery and giving the tired nerves a chance to rest.

It is a man's duty to keep all his bodily functions in the best condition; most men cannot do this by following their daily occupations, so it is necessary for them to get their exercise elsewhere.

Our association with its splendid equipment and trained Physical Directors renders valuable aid to the man seeking systematic and scientific exercise. Many men have testified to the beneficial results received from our classes.

Join one of the classes and be a regular attendant, it will pay you a good dividend.

The Business and Professional Men's Class, which meets Monday, Wednesday and Saturday at 5 P. M., registered eighteen men on the floor Jan. 25. If you come around we could make it twenty or perhaps twenty-five.

The Senior Class has been averaging over forty.

Exhibition: The annual exhibition will be held March 26 and 27 and all classes are urged to keep up their attendance in order to bring their work up to a high standard. The exhibition promises to be up to the standard set by past exhibitions.

A ticket selling contest will be conducted and Y. M. C. A. fobs presented to those selling a certain number of tickets. The tickets will be out in a week.

Competitive Teams. The various teams have had a very busy month, and have won honor in all departments. The following is the record of the teams.

including the police and firemen, who had to do with the reception given in the City Hall last Saturday night. The universal comment was made that the arrangements were admirable in every way and that the reception was a great success. I cannot suitably express to you my appreciation of all that was done to give me an opportunity to meet so many of my Newton friends, and I shall always remember the cordial feeling which pervaded the meeting. Nothing in connection with my election to the United States Senate has given me so much satisfaction as to feel that it met with the approval and gave pleasure to my neighbors. In all the above Mrs. Weeks joins me.

Petitions were received from a large number of citizens favoring the choice of Mrs. John T. Prince as a member of the school committee. The name of ex-alderman Robert W. Williamson was presented by Alderman Pratt as the choice of a large number of West Newton citizens and Alderman Bemis then called attention to the petitions for Mrs. Prince and presented her name in the convention. A ballot gave Mrs. Prince 5 votes and Mr. Williamson 18 votes, and he was declared elected as a member of the school committee for the balance of the year.

An order was adopted assigning Feb. 17 as the time to elect successor to Alderman Miller as a member at large from ward 4. The name of Prof. Guy M. Winslow was presented to the board as Alderman Miller's successor by a large number of citizens of ward 4.

Petitions of Mary E. McAdams and Jennie B. Chaloner for apportionment of betterment assessments on Brooks avenue and of Walter J. Hayden for a common victualler license at 291 Centre street were granted.

Other petitions were received from Morris Shuman for a junk license, Jenekas Bros. for a common victualler license, Lawrence et al for sewers in Pontiac, Rokeby, Carlton, Mosefield roads and Waban avenue, C. E. Gibson for sewer in Valentine street, Edw. E. Hopkins for sewer in Valentine park and the Telephone Co. for attachments on Dalton road and Boylston street. On reports of committees the Mayor was requested to favor legislation to establish office of comptroller of accounts for Newton, for the improvement of the sanitary condition of Charles River, to authorize the formation of municipal associations and to oppose the repeal of charter provisions relative to removal of city officials of Newton, street numbers were ordered fixed on certain new streets, sewers ordered built in Blagelow road and in Commonwealth avenue, $750 authorized for purchase of sewer materials, leave to withdraw given on sewer petitions on California street and Riverdale avenue and on sidewalks on Henshaw street, hearings assigned for Feb. 17 on widening of Hammond street and Middlesex road under the betterment act, grant of $24,811.50 made for city expenses, Patrick Nally retired under veteran pension act at $306 per year, Chap. 216, acts of 1908 allow apportionment of sidewalk assessments accepted, inexpedient voted on request of school nurses for increase in salaries, permit to remove poles on Woodland road granted the Telephone Co., common victualler license granted Mrs. M. L. Laige and an auctioneer license to W. C. Hatch.

An order accepting offer of 30 acres of land from the Edmonds estate for park and playground purposes was referred to the Finance committee after a considerable debate, in which Alderman Bemis, Barker and Rice were the principal participants. Alderman Bemis agreed with the other aldermen as to the value of the land and as to the public spirit of donors. He believed the financial features should receive attention, not necessarily adverse, but important enough to be considered. Alderman Barker said this land was particularly well fitted for park purposes. The donors do not ask the city to spend any money on flower beds, bandstands or seats, but wish it left exactly as it is now. The land is valued at $10,700 and the annual taxes are about $188 and it costs about $150 to take care of the moths. Mr. Edmonds will remove all the dead wood and trees the Forest Commissioner desires removed. In addition the Forestry Dept. needs land for nursery purposes. Mr. Barker then enlarged the Edmonds family, recalling the fact that Mr. J. Wiley Edmonds was a liberal contributor to the Newton Free Library and that Mr. A. Lawrence Edmonds was deeply interested in the Newton Hospital. Mr. Barker believes that the land would be of great benefit in the future and well worth an annual cost of $350 to carry.

Alderman Rice believed the city should accept this offer but thought that the Shannon and Colby estates should be interviewed with the idea of obtaining better access to this land from Centre and Cabot streets. He called attention to the fact that this property was a link in the proposed parkway between West Roxbury and the Charles river.

Alderman Bemis explained several transfers, the most important of which was that of $1500 fixed for salary of a health officer to that for salary of chairman of the board of health for passed.

The board at 9:15 adjourned.

EDITORIAL

The resignation of Alderman Franklin T. Miller, as a member at large from Ward 4, on account of increased business responsibilities is a serious loss to the city government of Newton. Resolutions adopted by the board aptly describe his services as "extraordinary" and indeed, in many years of service at City Hall, I have seldom seen a member of the city government devote himself so completely to city affairs, as Mr. Miller has done. On one occasion when the city's interests were seriously threatened by adverse legislation, Mr. Miller practically gave three weeks from his business in arousing enough opposition to defeat the bill which had most powerful influences behind it. There are many other instances where he has been unstinted in his time and labors for the good of the city. As chairman of the important committee on Finance, Mr.
Miller had a thorough grasp of the situation and an accurate appreciation of the details of appropriations for city maintenance.

The city has been most fortunate in having the services of such a man as Mr. Miller during the past five years and it speaks well for this community that it can produce men of such public spirit, who can and do, give their very best for the maintenance of our high standard of city government.

The election of Mr. Robert W. Williamson as a member of the school committee is to be heartily commended. Mr. Williamson has had splendid experience in the board of aldermen, where he has been an extremely valuable member and this should prove a good foundation for work on the school committee. I have not favored the election of Mrs. Prince to this office, in my opinion, what is needed on our school committee, is not educator—for we have an expert educator in Dr. Spaulding—but strong, common sense business men. Men who can realize that there is a limit to the cost of public education and who will not be swept from their business base by the prevailing sentiment that nothing can be too good for our children, or that our children are our best assets. Our school committee needs to realize this —and should realize it at once—or we shall soon find that Newton is giving its children a college education at the public expense and neglecting other and equally necessary departments of civic duty.

It is a curious situation which exists in our Congressional district, where the Democrats and Progressives, with their candidates practically chosen, are already at work, while the Republicans, the dominant party in the district, must await the official primary, before beginning active operations.
The delay is caused from the fact that Congressman-elect Weeks cannot resign his office until March 4th, and officially there is no vacancy at present in the thirteenth district.

HUNNEWELL CLUB

There was a large attendance Tuesday evening at the regular Neighborhood Night for February, and a pleasant entertainment was given on the stage, where the comediette "My Uncle's Will"
was presented by Mrs. H. L. Dexter, Mr. Clarence C. Colby and Mr. Walter V. Marsh. Refreshments were served in charge of Mrs.
R. W. Bartlett and Mrs. Carl Pierce and dancing was enjoyed until midnight.

Mr. Henry E. Sharp, the club steward, was stricken with paralysis last Friday and taken to the Newton

WINS SECOND GAME

Newton High School Hockey Team
Defeats Milton Academy 4 to 3.

Although the Newton High School hockey team has had little chance to show its skill on the rink this winter, the game played against the Milton Academy seven last Wednesday afternoon at Milton, resulted in a victory for the Newton boys, 4 to 3. The game was a hard, clean match, both teams showing brilliant team work.

The Newton lineup was greatly strengthened since the previous and first game of the season by the return of Robert Spaulding, last year's captain, Norman Thompson and Herbert White, and considering that it was their first game of the season, showed up well.

Capt. Forte is evidently out to pass the high mark for caging goals made by him last season, as he succeeded in scoring three of the four goals in this game, as well as five out of the six scored in the game with Cambridge High and Latin seven last week. Stanley, Roquemore and Wellman also showed up strong in the past two games.

POLICE COURT

William H. Tohey was placed under arrest in a lumber camp at East Rye Gate, Vt., last Wednesday morning by Inspector E. H. O'Halloran, where he was employed as cook, on a warrant charging him with breaking and entering and larceny in this city on the night of Jan. 15. It is alleged that sometime during the night he forced a rear window in the shop of John Healey, in the rear of 200 California street, and made off with a magneto and other minor electrical supplies. After a search by the police, Chief Mitchell finally located the man in Vermont and detained Inspector O'Halloran to bring him back. In court this morning he was held under $500 bonds for the Superior Court.

Two High School boys, one 16 and the other 17 years of age were taken into custody yesterday afternoon at the close of school by the police on the charge of breaking and entering and larceny. Both boys are extremely bright youths scientifically having a modern wireless station at their homes. It is alleged that they entered the garage of J. Edward Mitchell, 2068 Commonwealth Avenue, Auburndale and that of Charles H. Milliken, 26 Prospect place, West Newton, by means of cutting out a pane of glass, and stole 20 batteries in the first garage and 18 in the second. Both boys admit the deeds, claiming that they wanted the batteries for use in their wireless apparatus.

At the Civil Service Examination held last Wednesday at the State House, 26 applicants took the examination for clerical positions, 14 for perpetual and 12 for firemen.

REAL ESTATE

ing of agreements for the sale of the street, Newton, from J. E. Masten to William H. Swanton of Newton Centre who buys for occupancy. The assigned value is $15,000.

by, 43 Thornton street, Newton to Robert M. Dobbins of Boston. House and 11,000 feet of land. Assessed for $3500.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

While there has been considerable legislative activity the present week in the several committees, where work is already under way, there has been little of interest to residents of Newton. City Collector Slocum spoke in opposition Monday on the bill of Mayor Barry of Cambridge to make this city pay a part of the expense of maintaining bridges over the Charles river between Cambridge and Boston.

In the special team race preceding the regular events, the Highland Grammar School runners beat the Lowell High School Midgets. The summary:

1000-Yard Run—Won by Bowers, Lowell; Bancroft, Newton, second;

NEWTON CLUB

A representative audience listened to an address by Mr. John Mitchell, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, on Wednesday evening last. The subject of Industrial Accidents, their prevention and compensation therefor was presented in forceful and interesting manner.

The evening was both enjoyable and profitable and civic subjects could well be discussed with frequency at the club.

Mr. Mitchell said in part:

"Americans would rise in protest if they realize the facts regarding industrial accidents in the United States. It is strange commentary on our boasted American civilization, that we kill or injure three times as many workmen in proportion to the numbers employed as are killed or injured in any country in the world.

It has been estimated that our loss in these respects is 2,000,000 annually, and though many of the accidents are beyond human control, thousands upon thousands of them are preventible.

In many respects we have the greatest government ever instituted among men, but we must not blind ourselves to the fact that in providing for the lives and safety of our workmen as well as in compensating them for injuries received in the course of their employment, we are lagging behind the nations of the old world.

"In order that we may extract ourselves from this degrading and humiliating position, it is imperative that the mining and factory laws of all our states—at present wholly inadequate and sometimes a dead letter on the statute books—should be greatly extended and enforced with the utmost vigor. The employers should be required to equip their machinery and working places with every practicable safety device which it is possible to secure, and to establish museums of safety devices and industrial hygiene in which would be exhibited drawings or models of all safety appliances in use in this and other countries.

"This force of factory and mining inspectors should be largely increased; inspectors should be removed from the sphere of partisan political influence; and schools should be conducted in connection with the museums in which the inspectors could be thoroughly trained for their work."

Turning to the question of compensation, Mr. Mitchell said that what the workman desired was not so much compensation for injury as the prevention of injury. "It is all very well," he urged, "for him to receive $100 for the loss of an eye or a leg, but it is much better for him and for society that the eye or the leg be not lost.

Our present system of compensation frequently makes it less expensive for a workman to be killed or maimed than to provide adequately for his safety. Under that system an injured workman has, as a rule, no remedy at law if his injuries were caused by the act of fellow workman, or if he contributed to them in any way himself. Meanwhile the courts of state and nation are burdened beyond their capacity with litigation which in any other country on earth is obviated by the automatic settlement of these claims. In Great Britain an injured workman gets half his wages as long as his disability continues, and three years' wages are paid in case of an accident causing his death. Even on the basis of half wages the American workman would be immeasurably better provided for when injured than he is under our liability system."

Taking the returns for 11 years, Mr.
Mitchell finally showed that of the $100,000,000 paid by American employers in premiums to liability companies, the injured workmen received less than $30,000,000, and that assuming $15,000,000 for the cost of administering the companies, the sum of $50, 000 was worse than wasted because the money was used in burdening the courts with litigation or in the delaying and defeating of claims, many of which were just.

The annual meeting of the club will be held tomorrow evening and will be followed by a supper and entertainment. The following nominations have been made for the ensuing year:

Mr. Charles E. Riley for President For Vice-Presidents, Hon. Samuel L.
Powers, Wm. J. Follett, Charles F.
Avery, James L. Richards and Hon. George Hutchinson. Mr. John H. Eddy and Dr. H. W. Thayer are renominated for Treasurer and Secretary, respectively, and for Executive Committee the above with Horton S.
Allen, Edgar S. Barker, Albert P.
Carter, Robert Douglas, Edward P.
Hatch, Howard L. Herrington, Frank L. Nagle, Henry J. Nichols, Edwin M.
Richards, Lincoln Righter, Dr. Charles H. Vee and Oscar W. Walker.

A dance and bridge will be given on the evening of February 12.

FINE ENTERTAINMENT

The entertainment hall of the Trinity Episcopal Church, Newton Centre, was thronged with a large and appreciative audience Monday evening at the excellent entertainment arranged by Miss Ethel Greenwood, the proceeds of which will be devoted to the parish house fund. The first sketch of the evening, entitled "Mrs.

Oakley's Telephone," proved very amusing, and the second sketch, "Recreation Hour at Harvard," an original show written by Miss Greenwood, was thoroughly enjoyed, because of its bright comedy. The members of

SQUIRES-GAFFIELD

Miss Edith L. Gaffield of 94 Westborne terrace, Brookline, and Beaton H. Squires, a young attorney and graduate of Harvard, '06, were married Saturday noon at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. Raymond Tucker, 479 Walnut street, Newton.

Rev. John Squires, father of the groom performed the ceremony, and the bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Raymond Tucker, as matron of honor.

Mr. Squires is one of five sons of Rev. John Squires of Wapping, Conn. He was graduated from the Harvard Law School in 1909. In his first years at college he made a mark on the football field, playing tackle three years. In 1905 he was named as the All-American right tackle.

The bride, who is the elder daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Gaffield, formerly of Newton, has made her home in Brookline for a number of seasons past.

SEVEN CENT SOCIAL

The seven cent social and entertainment given Saturday evening in the Parish hall of the Church of the Messiah at Auburndale was a very enjoyable and novel affair and was participated in by about 76 members of the parish and their friends.

The program included vocal solos by Miss Edith Jacobs, fancy dancing by Miss Ruth Allen and readings by Miss Thelma Pope of Weston, readings by Miss Hazel Fogwill, character songs and sketches by Charles Black of Chelsea.

There were also several delightfully rendered selections by the choir-boys with accompaniments by Miss Edith Jacobs. Dancing was enjoyed during the evening, for which music was furnished by Mrs. W. M. Russell. The social was arranged under the direction of Mrs. Mille Beardsley.

PARISH PARTY

The annual parish party of Channing Church was held at the Hunnewell Club on Friday evening, January 31st. Rev. and Mrs. Harry Lutz and Mr. and Mrs. George M. Nash received the guests as they arrived. Nearly two hundred were present, including a large number of young people. Handley's Orchestra furnished the music and dancing was continued until midnight. Langdon Coffin, Alfred Wing, Charles Carpenter, Phillips Byfield, Willett Howard, Kenneth Howard, Raymond Stanley, and Henry Clarke acted as ushers. Refreshments were served at ten-thirty. Mrs. Lutz and Mrs. Nash presiding over the tables. The committee in charge were Mr. and Mrs. Howard M. North, Mrs. Ralph C. Emery, Miss Louise Emerson, and Miss Esther Wing and great credit is due them for one of the most enjoyable of these parties that has ever been held.

After this talk the rest of the afternoon was occupied with papers on State Charities by the club members, Mrs. L. H. Marshall and Mrs. W. B. Ryder.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Miss Grace M. Burr, Editor.

The events of the coming week of special interest to the club women are the Peace meeting at Tremont Temple on Tuesday evening and the meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs on the following day at Arlington Street Church. The Federation has taken a positive stand relative to the substitution of law for war in the settlement of international disputes and the meeting on Tuesday evening is the outcome. The club women should rally to the support of this great modern movement, showing their colors on the right side, by turning out in large numbers at this meeting, and thus give the cause impetus.

A circular sent out by the Federation states that the earliest attempts at better international relations began as far back as 1603 under Henry IV of France. "From then until today there has been a continuous growth of the effort to accomplish for the nations what civilization has already established in the relations between individuals and states, namely, law, not fighting, for the settlement of disputes.

"There are two vital things to consider in determining our attitude as individuals or as a country, towards this great change in our world system, the moral obligation, and the material result. For nations to use methods for settling disputes, which, employed by individuals would be punished by death or heavy penalty, is unworthy both of our civilization and our intelligence. Only public opinion aroused and expressed will put an end to war and establish law in its place."

State Federation Announcements

Joseph Walker will speak on "The Making of a Law." At the afternoon session at 2 o'clock, Prof. Charles Zueblin will speak on "Saving and Spending." The white reserved seat or yellow tickets will be necessary for admission. No arrangements have been made for luncheon. The Woman's Charity Club of Boston is the hostess of the occasion.

At the Legislative conference to be held tomorrow, Saturday, February 8, at 2 P. M. at the rooms of the New England Woman's Club, the bills, which will be presented to the Federation on Wednesday for endorsement, will be discussed. All club women are cordially invited to attend.

At the last meeting of the Monday Club of Newton Highlands Miss Hewins of the State Board of Charities spoke of the work of the Board, of the supervision and the kindly and searching inquiries made to help both adult and minor wards. She described the industrial schools, the sanitoria, and the Leper Hospital, and told of the placing out of the children in families and of the outdoor relief. The speaker pointed out clearly that the most humanitarian feelings underlie all dealings with these state wards. After this talk the rest of the afternoon was occupied with papers on State Charities by the club members, Mrs. L. H. Marshall and Mrs. W. B. Ryder.

On Monday afternoon Mr. Ernest G. Haagood spoke to the members of the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. on "Some Factors which Influence the High Cost of Living." The speaker stated that increased prices are found in Europe as well as in this country. He pointed out that statistics show that since 1897 the prices have been constantly advancing and that they reached the maximum in 1912. He advocated the appointment of an international commission to look into the question and hoped that Congress will approve such a measure in the near future. Mr. Haagood showed that the country has, from time to time passed through these periods of depression and consequent high prices. Various economic theories were suggested that directly or indirectly bear upon the cause of the prices. For one thing there has been an enormous increase in our gold supply, it having quadrupled since 1852. The higher cost of education and the higher standard of living are also contributory causes. It is a familiar fact that what were once considered luxuries are now looked upon as necessities. There was a time when practically everything used by the family was made in the home, now almost nothing is. Trusts and the tariff are also somewhat responsible and the cost of the army and navy. It is a fact that food stuffs in England are 50 per cent higher than here. A social hour with refreshments closed a very interesting afternoon.

Mr. Alton E. Briggs, Executive Secretary of the Boston Fruit and Produce Exchange, spoke before the Newtonville Woman's Guild at its meeting on Tuesday afternoon, February 4, on New England Food Supplies. He stated that New England furnishes only a very small part of our own food supply and consequently a very large per cent is secured from the Middle West. This fact has a bearing on the cost of living. Mr. Derby Brown rendered a part of Cycle of Songs with Mrs. Harry D. Cabot at the piano. Tea was served by the Industrial committee.

The Social Science Club held its monthly business meeting on Wednesday morning. After the usual reports and routine business, Mrs. Clarence C. Smith, chairman of the Legislative committee, spoke of matters of interest now before the Legislature.

The Newton Mothers' Club observed "Guest Day" at the home of Mrs. Henry D. Lloyd of Grove Hill avenue, Newtonville, on Wednesday afternoon. Over one hundred responded to the invitation to hear Mr. W. L. Hubbard of the Boston Opera Company speak on "The Jewels of the Madonna." The opinions of the press have been very varied regarding this modern Italian opera, said Mr. Hubbard. Some have called it tawdry and showy, while others have recognized it as a work of great importance. It is manifestly of modern style and thoroughly Italian in its coloring. Wolf-Ferrari, the composer, was the son of a German painter, while his mother was a Venetian woman. In the son there is a strange blending of the two nations. He has the serious mind of the German and the warm impulsiveness of the Italian. His modern oratorio, "New Life," is distinctly German, while this opera, "The Jewels of the Madonna," is wholly Italian. His father tried to make an artist out of him, and he possessed much talent, yet all the time he was devoted to music. He would hide music paper behind his drawings and, while his fellow students were laboriously making their sketches, he did easily and rapidly, he would write out the melodies that he could not down. His keen sense of color made him a painter in music.

The opera is teeming with Neapolitan life and is so realistic that it has never been performed to completion in Italy. It was hissed off the stage after the first act and has never been tried there again, though it has been given in many other countries in Europe. Mr. Hubbard then gave a most vivid presentation of the story of the opera. He closed his remarks with a few observations upon the necessity of the right mood in approaching any work of art, be it a painting, a statue, or an opera, and the absolute need of imagination in order to get the most from its performance, and urged his audience to be honest with themselves where art matters are concerned. A social hour over the tea cups closed a most delightful afternoon.

Miss Anna M. Whiting of Washington street opened her home on Thursday afternoon for a neighborhood meeting in the interest of woman suffrage. About one hundred friends and neighbors of Miss Whiting responded to her invitation, evincing both interest in the cause and appreciation of the value of neighborly meetings to discuss matters of common interest. The meeting opened with a selection by the Channing Hall choir, as listed by Mrs. Bertha Carter Flynn, contralto, with Miss Elsa Leonard at the piano.

Rev. Henry G. Ives of Andover, N. H., who with his wife, formerly Miss Susan A. Whiting, is active in the work for equal suffrage in New Hampshire, spoke upon "A Man's Reasons for Believing in Equal Suffrage." Mr. Ives began by saying that woman suffrage is one of the closing chapters in a most interesting history, and proceeded to trace the evolution of democracy from the time of King John and the Magna Charta down to the present day, when the final step needed to realize complete democracy is the granting of the ballot to women. Touching upon the present conditions in England, he said that the women there have been treated with great injustice and they have to face very different conditions from what they do in this country, yet he deplored their methods. The average wage for English women, for instance, is but $1.75 a week.

Then turning to conditions in this country he showed by means of a map how many of the western states have already granted full suffrage to women, and then pointed out those which have granted partial suffrage. Those Women, he said, are equal with men in the sight of God, they should be in the sight of the government. Women have entered business and have become the competitors with men. Thousands have no home and no one to protect them and they have no power to help themselves. The women are needed to help solve the moral questions of the day, the temperance evil, immorality, to humanize the conditions in the factories, to stop the present extent of the White Slave Traffic and to bring the influence of womanhood into the spirit of our civilization. The liquor interests have fought woman suffrage because women stand for temperance.

Women are needed in the government to see that the department stores provide the proper conditions for which girls are to work, to inspect the factories to see that they, too, make proper provisions. Mr. Ives stated that the greatest opposition to woman suffrage in New Hampshire at the recent election came from a manufacturing concern, which pays minimum wages to its girls and provides no adequate sort of sanitary conditions for them, and yet pays a 46 per cent dividend.

The old time chivalry has vanished, women have become the competitors in business with men. Something is needed to take the place of this old chivalry. Let us not fear to take the necessary leap to give them what they need. In closing Mr. Ives referred to Victor Hugo's hearing on his death bed of the dedication of the Statue of Liberty in New York harbor, and quoted his words: "The statue itself is nothing, the idea it represents everything, Liberty is woman, woman is liberty."

Then followed "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," sung by Mrs. Flynn, the audience joining in the chorus. Opportunity was given for questions and remarks. Rev. Harry Lutz being called upon, said that suffrage, whether that of men or women, should be looked upon not as a matter of right, but rather as a duty, an obligation. The desire should be brought forward among women to share the obligation of suffrage.

Mr. Ives then introduced Mrs. Judith W. Smith of East Boston, whom he characterized as being "Ninety-two years young." Mrs. Smith gave a few personal reminiscences, saying that she remembered the first petition which was sent into the legislature asking for the ballot for women and how many years it took before any particular notice was taken of it. She recalled the first suffrage meeting she ever attended. Another time seeing Lucy Stone, Mary Livermore and Julia Ward Howe all in tears, because the suffrage cause had been turned down by the legislature.

—Mr. and Mrs. George Spring are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter last Monday at the Newton Hospital.

—Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon from St. John's Church for Mrs. Sylvester Parker, who died suddenly at her home on Washington street.

—At a character party held by the A. O. H. on last Monday night, prizes were awarded to Miss Mary Kilmain, Mrs. Stevens, Miss Molly Williams, and Miss Mary Thompson.

—At the last meeting of the Community Club it was voted to join the Massachusetts Association of Girls' Clubs. Miss Hobart, secretary of this association, spoke to the girls. The following Saturday a very successful sale, followed by dancing, was held in the hall. Tuesday evening, February 18, a supper will be given for the members of the club only.

The Parliamentary Law Club will meet on Tuesday, February 11, at 10:15 A. M. at the home of Mrs. W. D. Tripp of Boylston street.

At the meeting of the Monday Club at Mrs. Drown's, Mrs. Bardsell will speak on "The Gospel of Progress."

The Lauriat Company has just completed the annual stock inventory, which marks the close of the fortieth year since the business was started by the old firm of Estes & Lauriat. The store is now a more tempting place than ever, for the bargain-loving bookman, as many special counters are loaded down with books that have been set aside during the inventory, to be closed out for one reason or another, and prices put upon them that are intended to quickly accomplish the desired result. Such opportunities as this sale offers come but once a year.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE—Kathryn Kidder, the famous legitimate star, who has made the character of "Madame Sans Gene" known from the Atlantic to the Pacific Coast, will make her debut as a vaudeville headliner at B. F. Keith's Theatre next week. For her vaudeville tour Miss Kidder has selected a one-act play entitled "The Washerwoman Duchess," based upon an incident in the life of the Emperor Napoleon and Mme. Sans Gene. The engagement of Miss Kidder to play her famous role at B. F. Keith's Theatre is one of the big events of the year in vaudeville. Miss Kidder is but one headliner on all star bill. Professor Ota Cygla, the court violinist to the King of Spain, who has captivated all New York with his wonderful technique and masterly command of the violin, will make his first Boston appearance; Max Hart's Six Steppers, composed of four brothers and two sisters, will present a series of terpsichorean specialties; Jack Connelly and Margaret Webb will present their uproariously funny comedy, "A Stormy Finish"; the Kitamura Japanese Troupe of Oriental entertainers; Zenith's Canine Comedians; Nevin and Erwood in "The Coal Man and The Maid"; Leroy, Wilson and Tom, comedy acrobats; and others yet to be announced, will complete the bill.

Ariss, who enters upon the 18th week of his engagement at the Plymouth Theatre, Boston, in Louis N. Parker's delightful play, "Disraeli," is nearing the end of his extraordinary run. Those who have not yet witnessed this exquisite comedy had better take advantage of these last few opportunities, for the play will not be seen in any other New England city, outside of Boston. No play in the past decade has gripped the attention of theatre-goers as has Parker's delightful masterpiece. "Disraeli" is just that sort of play that makes an emphatic appeal to all classes of theatre-goers.

And the singular part of it all is that the play is better enjoyed when witnessed the second and third time. If you would satisfy yourself as to the reason why the play has scored such a tremendous hit, then don't fail to see it. You will instantly agree with all others, in saying that it is the best evening's entertainment, offered to theatre-goers for a long time.

BOSTON THEATRE—It happens often that when a book has been dramatized, its presentation on the stage causes the audience to look with interest at the name of the author and inquire, "What else has he written?" and there follows a wild demand for his books that makes his popularity look like a contagion. This will not be the case with "The Garden of Allah." "Who," the audience will ask, "is the great genius that saw the possibilities for such an amazing spectacular production in such a book?" It is a series of marvelous visions, the like of which has never been produced on any stage. Robert Hichens undoubtedly recognizes the superiority of the scene to the story, for the drama throughout is made subservient to the tales the pictures tell: the great brooding mystery of the desert; the wonderful spell it casts over all who, once beholding it, can never leave it; the secret of its silence and the longing hope of the world-weary that somewhere out in its vast solitudes will be found eternal peace, make their appeal through the genius of the man who devised the scenes. The promise of the desert at sunrise, the fury of the sand storm, and the calm brooding peace at moonlight, will be remembered long.

CASLTLE SQUARE THEATRE.—From near and far multitudes of laughter-loving playgoers are coming to see "Believe Me, Xantippe" at the Castle Square Theatre. It is receiving wide-spread approval for its ingenious plot and comic situations, and it is being voted the best of all John Craig's prize plays. Its fourth week will begin on Monday, and there will be undoubtedly larger audiences than before. The story of George MacFarland and his escapade, his meeting with the bright Rocky Mountain girl, his falling in love with her, and the ingenious method by which he wins his wager that he can escape the law for a year, holds the attention of the audience from start to finish.

MANY QUESTIONS ASKED

The Christian Forum is Evidently Meeting a Public Need

The Christian Forum held its fourth monthly meeting in Elliot Church on Sunday evening, with a large attendance.

An eloquent address on "The Forces behind the Social Movement" was delivered by Professor Walter Rauschenbach, D. D., of the Theological School, Rochester, N. Y., who has a clear understanding of Christian Socialism.

Should our Home Mission Boards take up this social propaganda, or is there a better method by which a denomination may organize the work?

What is the Single Tax?

Would not the Single Tax deprive present owners of their homes?

What force short of revolution will make the one tenth who hold the financial power feel the social movement? They are not very religious.

How can there be practical cooperation for the benefit of mankind? Can the ideas of capital and those of labor be brought into union so as to become an effective force? Is there anything in the present day which would indicate such a tendency? Is it, or is it not, a fact that labor and capital are more antagonistic in the present age and that the antagonism is on the increase? Is Socialism the true solution?

In the new sensitiveness to wrong and admiration for justice as apparent in organized labor as among professional and educated classes? (Note the dynamite trials.)

Must not some be at the bottom of the social scale? and is not their condition much improved over that of a generation ago?

To bring the church and the laboring class together which party should act and how? What is the "rake handle" the oppressed laboring class has been biting? Who holds the rake?

In what respects is Socialism "true," in what respects "untrue"?

How and where shall we put our protest in Massachusetts' politics? Shall we support the Socialist, Progressive, Republican, or Democratic Party?

Is not the equalization of taxation a fundamental betterment of all classes? What in your opinion is the justification of Syndicalism? Is it likely to supersede Trade Unionism? Do you approve of the bill in the Massachusetts Legislature to prevent carrying the Red Flag?

According to your teachings should not every follower of the Christian faith be a Socialist?

How can a suburban church definitely help with the social movement for betterment of conditions?

How will Socialism or socialistical reform preserve individuality?

Does not the betterment of the laboring class mean a still higher cost of living?

How can the profits of industry be fairly divided between capital and labor? Should, in your opinion, capital have any share?

Do you look for a peaceful solution of this social question, or do you think bloodshed and revolution must precede it?

TIERNEY ELECTED

Choice of Co. C for First Lieutenant. Delano for Second Lieutenant

Without doubt, the operatic concert to be given next Tuesday evening by the Newton Club to its members, will be one of the finest entertainments ever offered by a club. The artists are all well known successes who are appearing today throughout the United States before the very best audiences.

Mme. Evelyn Scotney, the wonderful operatic soprano, of course, is the chief feature of the concert. Mme. Scotney, as is well known, created the greatest musical furor of a generation when she first appeared a year ago with the Boston Opera. She was immediately acclaimed as the coming musical star of the age, and this acclamation she has absolutely lived up to and today she is probably more in demand, not only as a performer in titles of grand opera, but as a concert artist than any other soprano in America.

Her success was instantaneous and whenever she appears she is greeted with the musical homage due such an artiste. Better still, she is, unlike most musical celebrities, approachable and of a real human make-up. Then again, attention is naturally attracted toward her by the very pretty romance which culminated in her marriage to Mr. Howard White, who is so well known as a most eminent basso cantante.

Mr. White sang for the first time in Newton last winter at a reception tendered to the then new president of the Newton Club, Mr. C. E. Riley. At this occasion, he made such an impression on all who heard him, that he has been sought for most assiduously ever since by patrons desiring a singer of his ability. In addition to his work as a singer, Mr. White is also a reader of no mean repute; he is also a "cello solo" of marked success. In all of these roles he appeared at the last Newton Club concert and the impression he made at that time, caused him to be engaged to appear with his wife, Mme. Scotney, when she gave her first Newton concert.

Mr. Charles K. North, who is to accompany Mme. Scotney when she sings the Mad Scene from "Lucia di Lammermoor," is the first flutist of the Boston Opera House, and is well known for his work as a flutist with Mme. Melba, Abbott and others with whom he has, in the past toured United States and Canada. In addition to his work in the obligato score of the Mad Scene, he will play a solo, which will be looked for with much pleasure.

Mr. Ernest W. Harrison will accompany all of the artists at this operatic concert, and, in addition, play two solo numbers.

The concert has been arranged by Mr. A. H. Handley, who will also have charge of the program.

SYMPHONY HALL—The concert in Symphony Hall next Sunday afternoon, February 16th, will be given by Maggie Teyle and Edmund Clement. Maggie Teyle is a young English singer whose youth and beauty and exquisite art have made such a profound impression on the American public during the last two years. Although she is now but twenty-one years old, for four years she has played a leading part on the music of the world, having succeeded Mary Garden in the Opera Comique and for the past two seasons has been the principal lyric soprano of the Chicago Opera Company. As an artist she is unique. A beautiful voice, flawless taste and bewitching presence makes her one of the most attractive singers on the stage. Edmund Clement's art is well known in Boston and the vicinity now through his many appearances in concert and in opera. In him are embodied the best and finest traditions of French art and he has a large and loyal following.

The concert has been arranged by Mr. A. H. Handley, who will also have charge of the program.

LUCY JACKSON CHAPTER

Mr. Edwin D. Mead Speaks to Daughters of the American Revolution

The February meeting of the Lucy Jackson Chapter, D. A. R., was held at the Newton Club House on Monday afternoon.

The hostesses were Mrs. H. N. Marvin, Mrs. F. R. Moore, Mrs. T. O. Marvin and Miss Alice Morton, who were assisted in receiving by the Regent, Mrs. Mead.

A short business meeting to elect delegates to the Washington Congress resulted in the following selection:

For delegate, Mrs. W. H. Lucas; for Alternates: Mrs. Puffer, Mrs. Rice, Mrs. Francis Newhall, Mrs. Manning, Mrs. F. W. Pray, Mrs. Merritt, Mrs. G. I. Jones, Mrs. Fearing, Mrs. Bancroft, Mrs. Talbot and Mrs. Hill.

The Regent then introduced Mr. Edwin D. Mead, who gave a fine and convincing talk on the United States as a World Power.

His argument might be summed up in the statement that no important constitution has been made in the last century which has not shown the influence of our constitution and no great development in the world's history but is bearing the impress of United States thought and education.

The music of the afternoon was furnished by Miss Miriam Herron, who rendered two very delightful numbers on the violin, accompanied by Miss Van Wagenen.

ICE SPORTS

Splendid Costume Carnival to be Held Next Week

The skating carnival to be held by the Frances E. Willard settlement in the Boston arena Thursday, February 20, at 8 o'clock, will be a succession of ice sports, exhibition skating, a hockey game between Battery A and Troupe B, basket ball on skates, between the Winchester People's League and the Woburn team, races between the Newton Y. M. C. A. and the Cambridge Y. M. C. A. quadrills, waltzes, and a burlesque by James B. Greene and Enoch Dutton, and many novelties will be introduced during the Prince's fete which is to be under the direction of Herr and Frau Muller, of Germany, the finest pair of skaters in the world, and this will be their first appearance in America. In this pantomime, when everyone will be in costume, Prince Carnival and the Ice Fairy, after various adventures with the Snowflakes and Pierrots, join each other in beautiful figures and dances. The programme will close with a grand pageant, after which general skating will be enjoyed.

Teel's Military Band will give a concert beginning at 7:30 and will also furnish music for the carnival and general skating after. All of the skaters in this carnival will be in costume, and the procession at the end will be a brilliant spectacle.

At the annual meeting held Saturday evening last the names recommended by the Nominating Committee were unanimously confirmed, also the names of Mr. Calvert Cray as a Vice-President, and Mr. Chas. B. Somers for member of the Executive Committee.

There will be a special meeting for organization of the New Committee on Saturday evening.

There is a great demand for tickets for the Evelyn Scotney concert to be given Tuesday evening, 18th inst., and the seating capacity of the hall will be taxed to the limit. Madame Scotney will be assisted by Mr. Howard White, basso, and by Mr. Charles North flutist, both of Boston Opera Company.

The prima donna and Mr. North will be heard to special advantage in the aria from the Mad Scene of "Lucia."

It is scarcely probable that guest tickets can be allotted owing to the demand by the membership for seats.

At the Valentine Dance and Bridge of Wednesday, were gathered a large number of members and guests. Many of the latter from out of town. The matrons at the dance were Mrs. E. Earl Hopkins, Mrs. Geo. H. Talbot and Mrs. Edward K. Hall. Reciting at Bridge were Mrs. Charles A. Cotton, Mrs. Wm. B. Arnold and Mrs. Edgar S. Barker. Prizes were won by Messedames O. F. Chelles, Geo. F. Schraff and G. Norman Bankart. Gentlemen prize winners were Messrs. Wm. B. Arnold, Harold B. Sherman and Henry R. Nash. There were 17 tables and the dance hall was tested to its utmost, the party being voted as a most successful one.

CIVIC CLUB OF NEWTON

7191. The total attendance for the city was 51,042, a daily attendance of 1398. The fall season started after the schools were in session and there was a total attendance of 35231.

Ten nationalities have been represented on the playgrounds during the season, American, Irish, French, Italian, Polish, Hebrew, German, Swedish, Scotch and English.

On the playgrounds the younger children play in the sand boxes, swings, teeter-totters, and with quoits, blocks and bean bags. The older girls play captain ball, basket ball, drive ball and base ball. The boys play base ball, foot ball and soccer, and there are also field sports, war games and folk dancing. 175 permits were issued for special games and the director estimates that there was an attendance at these games of 70,000.

Mr. Johnson closed by calling attention to the admirable work done by the director, Mr. Ernest Hermann and to the fact that Newton was now on the honor list of the Playground Association of America.

Mr. Carter took up the financial side of the playground matter and called attention to the amounts expended by other cities in this line of work, and stating that Newton had playground and park properties valued at over $300,000.

Mr. Brewer, the chairman of the Commission gave an interesting talk on the permanent improvement of the various playgrounds, recommending the erection of permanent buildings in which there would be toilet accommodations, heating apparatus, and storage. He believed that local playgrounds should be located on land owned by the city so far as possible and urged that playgrounds now on leased property should be placed on city land.

The debate on the Sixth Class license question was another interesting feature of an interesting meeting. Hon. George Hutchinson, the first speaker, said that under Sixth class licenses, the matter was absolutely under the control of the city government. Once each year, the state is absolutely clean and even suspicion may be enough reason to refuse to grant any druggist a license. While mayor he had held up five such licenses and by personal interviews with the druggists knew that they had but little real regard for the conditions imposed by such licenses.

If the aldermen would refuse to grant every such license as desired, it would be all that would be necessary to make every licensee more careful. He would be glad to be persuaded that the so-called 8th class license plan (the sale of liquor only on a physician's prescription) would be better, but he questioned the actual working out of the prescription method and the lack of supervision over the actions of the druggists. He believed it to be a more dangerous plan.

Mr. Grosvenor Calkins spoke in favor of refusing sixth class licenses saying in part that the recorded sales during 1912 showed a total of 7730 gallons or an increase of 20 per cent over 1911. This increase he attributed, not to increased consumption, but to increased vigilance of the druggists in complying with the law as to signatures for each sale. If this is so, the druggists are in this dilemma, they must either face the fact that their sales have increased 20 per cent or they must admit that they were selling liquor illegally in 1911. There was also a marked difference between the recorded sales and the express receipts for liquor during 1912, showing that 1000 gallons were sold over and above what were received. Of the total 7730 gallons, which would give every man, woman and child in the city one and one-half pints, 60 per cent was for whiskey. The Newton Hospital, with an average of 100 real sick persons, only used 40 gallons during the year and Mr. Calkins claimed that physicians were using liquor in greatly decreasing quantities as medicine. There were three ways to meet the situation. First, to keep on the same old way and allow the sale of unlimited quantities of liquor. Second, to reduce the number of druggists' licenses. This method would not reduce the gross sales, to druggists would simply sell what is now sold by 20. It would also be impossible, he believed to elect a board of aldermen who would discriminate among the druggists asking for this license. It would not be fair to make the distinction on the ground of gross sales, nor on the percentage of liquor to other drug business. He believed that it would be impossible to make a discrimination in granting a reduced number of licenses. Third, do not grant any licenses. To this there are four known objections. First, that the law requires one license to be granted to a proper person. To this Mr. Calkins said that there isn't a druggist in the city who is a "proper person" to administer the present law. Second, that it would be hard to get liquor for a proper purpose. Mr. Calkins called attention to the provision allowing sales on a physician's prescription. Third, that the city would lose control. To this Mr. Calkins said that under the 8th class, sales must be recorded, physician's certificates placed on file and there was the right to revoke the certificate of fitness. Fourth, that it would result in illegal sales and kitchen bar-rooms. To this Mr. Calkins stated that the Chief of Police said he would be able to handle the situation. In favor of this plan, Mr. Calkins said that from our own experience it is obvious that the bulk of the recorded sales are for a beverage, conducted discreetly and quietly, but effectively, as a liquor business in this city. It encourages hypocrisy and fails to breed respect for the law which we ought to have. The majority of no license communities in the state do not issue the sixth class license.

Third, the best experts in the state advise it, and the Boston Excise commission has repeatedly urged it. Fourth, the people of Newton want a change. The No vote in 1911 was 79 per cent of the total and the average No vote for the past 7 years has been 71 per cent, and he believed that the people meant what they said in this respect and that there is a sufficiently strong sentiment in the city to try the experiment.

EAT CHOCOLATE WITH FRUIT

Ideal Food Combination According to Writer Who Claims to Know Whereof He Speaks.

Some silly things have recently been said about chocolate, which have attempted with some air of authority to discount its value as an article of food, says the Lancet. Practical experience of course long ago decided in favor of the view that chocolate is a good sustaining food, and this finding is not surprising, having regard to the food substances which well-made chocolate contains.

Chocolate has been employed for its staying powers and its nutritive properties with considerable success in army maneuvers.

Chocolate can only do harm, in company with all good foods, when eaten to excess. Chocolate contains from 27 to about 60 per cent of sugar, from 20 to 45 per cent of fat, from 4 to 12 per cent of nitrogenous matter, from 2 to 3 per cent of mineral matter, and about 0.75 per cent of theobromine. It is therefore sweetened food and stimulant.

Thus far the Lancet. Now comes Dr. J. Slim Wallace, an eminent London dentist, with a letter asserting that chocolate does a vast amount of harm, especially to the teeth, by being eaten between meals and before going to bed. He says it should be eaten toward the end of a meal and should always be followed by fresh fruit.

BACHELOR NOT BETTER OFF

Investigation into New Zealand Workers' Condition Disproves Theory That Some Have Held.

As the result of investigations carried out by the New Zealand department of labor among 2,000 households, it was found that the worker with no family spends very nearly the same sum weekly on food as the heads of families, but saves in rent, clothing and other items, and at each week end has a surplus of 35 cents, says the London Globe. Apparently he buys more luxuries in the way of food than his coworker, who has a family and his average expenditure on clothing is also higher. The family may pay $1 more rent a week, 17 cents more on food, 23 cents on clothing and 67 cents on other items. His food and light expenses, however, are relatively lighter to the extent of 25 cents per week. The worker, however, has no surplus at the week end. The figures generally indicate, as may be expected, the favorable position, as far as expenditure is concerned, of the families possessing few, if any, children.

Small Lives Without Air.

While the small has lungs, heart and a general circulation, and is in every respect an air breathing creature, it can nevertheless exist indefinitely without inhaling the least breath of air, the element that is usually considered the essential to exist in all creatures supplied with lungs. "To all organized creatures," said Leppert, "the removal of oxygen water, nourishment, and heat cause death to ensue." When that statement was made Leppert did not appear to consider the small as one among the great host of "organized creatures," for experiments by Spallanzani have proved that any or all the usual life conditions can be removed in the case of the small without terminating its existence or in any way impairing its functions. The common snail retreats into its shell on the approach of frosty weather, and the opening of mouth of its shell is hermetically sealed by a secretion which is of a silky texture

EDITORIAL

The discussion of the problem of sixth class liquor licenses by the Civic Club is most timely. The matter was something of an issue at the polls last December and will soon come before the present board of aldermen for settlement for the ensuing year.

There are as Mr. Calkins states, three methods—to grant all druggists a sixth class license, as in the past, to grant a limited number, or to refuse to grant any. There seems to be a general feeling that the first plan is out of the question—that all the druggists will not be granted such licenses. The argument therefor will be between those in favor of a limited number and those who do not want any. Mr. Hutchinson states the case frankly and the reasonable and proper plan is the one he advocates.

Unfortunately, however, there is too much public sentiment abroad, much of it being without a reasonable foundation, but still enough to make us stop and consider. While personally, I believe that the limited plan is the best policy for the city to pursue it is evident that that plan will not satisfy large numbers of our best people who want all licenses refused and who have sufficient courage of their convictions to agitate the matter until that plan is given a trial. For these reasons, and because this continued agitation will be most harmful in the election of good men to our city government, I believe that no sixth class licenses should be granted during the present year. I am of the opinion, however, that this action will hurt the temperance cause in Newton, far more than the evil which now exists under the license system, for you cannot make men stop drinking by legislation, and the result will prove that statement.

As a matter of fairness, if this plan is adopted, the licensees to transport intoxicating liquors into this city by the expressmen should also be withheld. It should be understood, however, that if this is done, additional injury will be given the temperance cause. Many persons in this city use beer and ale as most of us use tea or coffee. They consider themselves temperate persons and probably vote
NO every fall on the license question.
When you prevent them from obtaining
this form of liquor by express,
they will naturally feel resentment and that resentment may take the form of a YES vote next fall. The entire situation is fraught with danger to the best interests of our beautiful city, and in some ways it should be a matter of regret that it was ever stirred up.

Our friends on the south side of the city are becoming interested in the question as to whom shall be selected as the nominee for mayor at the city election this fall. There is a general feeling that if Ward Six can present a suitable candidate the rest of the city will gladly assist in electing him. A committee has been appointed to select such a candidate and its report is awaited with interest. Ward Six has many residents who would make excellent mayors, but something more than ability is necessary in making a choice. His availability as a candidate is most important, for with a strong Democratic candidate polling the constantly increasing vote of that vibrant old party, with the possibility of a Progressive candidate—for there is some talk that our good friends in that party intend to carry their national and state policies into the city election—it will invite certain disaster to name a man who cannot poll the full vote of the majority.

party. Many names have been mentioned for the honor, some have declined and some are not available for the above reasons. Two men, however, stand out prominently in the discussion of the matter. Ex-alderman Allison Burr of Chestnut Hill and Mr. William H. Rice, chairman of the school committee. Both have had service in the city government, Mr. Burr having been a member of the board of aldermen for five years and Mr. Rice having been on the school board for several years. Both are good business men and both would give the city splendid service as mayor. On the ground of availability, Mr. Burr has a distinct advantage. He is a native of Newton and lived for many years in Ward 7, before taking up his present residence at Chestnut Hill.
He has been most active in the present playground movement and has a host of friends all over the city who would gladly welcome his candidacy. Ward Six will make no mistake if it presents either Mr. Burr or Mr. Rice as its candidate for mayor.

Our neighbors in Weston have placed the name of Mr. Alfred L. Cutting of that town in the list of candidates for the Republican nomination for Congressman in this district. Mr.
Cutting's candidacy should meet with strong support in this city, as he is just the type of man to represent this district with ability and dignity, and moreover, is a man who has proved his capacity for hard and effective work. Mr. Cutting has served in the House of Representatives and has done yeoman work for the party in his section of Middlesex County, where he has a wide acquaintance—an asset of importance in a three-cornered fight for the election. I believe that his candidacy will be most satisfactory to a large number of Republican voters.

I take this opportunity to express to the members of the Civic Club of Newton, my heartfelt gratitude for their beautiful and generous gift on Tuesday evening. I greatly appreciate the kindly thought which prompted the gift and the many expressions of good will which have come to me during the past few days.
One of the pleasantest features of my service with the legislative branch of our city government during the past quarter of a century is the friendship of the men who have served in our city government—a friendship which I value most highly and shall always strive to retain.

STUDENT DEAD

T. Vincent Cannon, the 21 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Cannon of 58 Clinton street, Newton, died last Sunday at the Massachusetts Agricultural College at Amherst, being the fourth victim of Scarlet Fever in the institution, and the 13th death from that disease in the town. His death was received with much sadness in this city, where he was widely known and popular among the younger people.

The young man was born in this city, and was a member of the class of 1910 of the Newton High School, where he gained considerable distinction as a scholar. At High School he took an active part in athletics, and his graduation kept up his athletic ability at the Newton Y. M. C. A.

He was taken ill when the Scarlet Fever epidemic broke out at the college early last month, however, and
cause. Many persons in this city use
beer and ale as most of us use tea
or coffee. They consider themselves
temperate persons and probably vote
NO every fall on the license question.

When you prevent them from obtaining
this form of liquor by express,
they will naturally feel resentment and that resentment may take the form of a YES vote next fall. The
entire situation is fraught with danger
to the best interests of our beautiful
city, and in some ways it should be a matter of regret that it was ever
stirred up.

Before he had attained his majority he became deeply interested in the political affairs of the city, and also gained a keen knowledge of civic matters. He was a member of the Newton Democratic Club and the Nonantum Improvement Association.

Besides leaving his parents, he is survived by four brothers and two sisters, James S., a Boston lawyer; William F., a student at Georgetown University; Leo E. and Edward F. and Misses Theresa and Christina Cannon, all of Newton.

Funeral services were held Wednesday morning from the Church of Our Lady with a solemn requiem high mass, the celebrant being Rev. Father James F. Kelly. Many beautiful floral tributes were received. The interment was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

N. H. S.

A large sum was realized yesterday afternoon from the entertainment and dance held in the drill shed by the students of the Newton Classical High School, the proceeds of which will be devoted to purchasing books for the school library. A unique entertainment was arranged by the members, consisting of "parched post," in which gifts were sent from one member to another, the receiver being obliged to pay for the article by its weight.

The post was in charge of the following members: C. Gibson, L. Clark T. Brown, H. Thomas, L. Ames and A.
Angier. Between the dances a recitation of Kipling's "Gunga Din" was given by Norman Thompson; solo dance by Miss Ruth Allen; eloc. dance by Robert Spaulding and Walter Terrio, and a tumbling act by S. Gardner and Stuart Dunleavy. Candy was on sale during the afternoon.

Newton High School hockey team was blanked last Tuesday afternoon on the Brae Burn Rink by the Arlington H. S. seven, the score being 2 to 0.

The Newton lads were apparently taken off their guard, as the visitors scored both goals within five minutes, while the home team battled hard until the final whistle, but were unable to cage the puck.

Newton clearly showed its lack of practice while the visitors entered the game in the best possible condition, knowing that a defeat would shatter the hopes of landing the State Championship.

Bowers, Buttrick and Re耶roft excelled for the winners and Forte, Thompson and Spaulding for the Newton team.

ception of Senator-elect John W.

as he is relieving himself of all business cares. The board consists of

THREE ALARM FIRE

The Stevens' Block Burned at Newton Highlands

The community was startled last night about ten o'clock when three alarms were pulled from box 64 for a fire at Stevens' Block in Newton Highlands square. It was discovered by Andrew Donnelly who was acting as ticket collector for a dance which was in progress in Lincoln Hall, on the second floor of the building and which was attended by over a hundred persons.
Donnelly told Patrolman O'Neill of his discovery, and O'Neill, after satisfying himself of the fact that there was a fire and making arrangements to sound an alarm, quietly informed the dancers that they must get out of the building. His coolness averted a panic, altho there was some confusion when it was found to be impossible to leave the building by the front stairway. O'Neill, however, opened the way to the rear entrance and by standing at the head of the stairs, supervised their exit from the building.

When Chief Randlett arrived he ordered a second and then a third alarm to be rung in, bringing all the fire apparatus in the city, as well as a large number of spectators.

Stevens' Block is a large brick building, 2 1/2 stories high and is owned by Chas. T. Noble and Casper E. Cline.
It is assessed for $25,000. The first floor is occupied by stores, including those of J. T. Waterhouse, druggist; W. H. Brayton, grocer; G. A. Cotey, boots and shoes; S. Nicola, fruit; L.
Kirk, baker, and a Chinese laundry.
On the second floor was Lincoln Hall and M. Sullivan, a tailor. The fire was confined to the west end of the building and the damage is estimated at $20,000.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

The past week has been a busy one for those interested in the activities of the Massachusetts State Federation. The legislative conference on Saturday afternoon, the Peace meeting on Tuesday evening and the Mid-Winter meeting on Wednesday. The attendance at all has been gratifying and shows that neither cold nor stormy weather can deter those who are really interested. The change this year in the order of considering legislative matters has been highly satisfactory. Formerly, it will be remembered, the bills were presented to the Federation for endorsement at its Mid-Winter meeting and later they were discussed at a conference of the Legislative department. This year they were considered at the Legislative conference on Saturday, when it was attempted to have both sides presented. As a matter of fact it was almost impossible to secure any one to speak on the opposing side, even the only man who had consented to come and oppose the Ellis Milk Bill did not appear at the last minute. However the matters were discussed freely and those present went away feeling much better informed and qualified to vote at the meeting on Wednesday. This is as it should be.

Conservation Conference

By invitation of the West Roxbury Woman's Club the Conservation department will hold a conference in the West Roxbury Congregational Church on Tuesday, Feb. 18th, at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. Emma Crocker will speak of conservation work in city clubs and Mrs. Fred H. Tucker on work in country clubs. All interested club women are cordially invited to attend. Train leaves So. Station for Highland Station at 12:58. Electric cars from Forest Hills pass the church. Running time from Dudley street about 30 minutes.

Local Announcements

The Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. will meet on Monday, Feb. 17th, with Dr. Wentworth of Lincoln street.

Mrs. Roland Barnes of Bowdoin street will be the hostess for the meeting of the Newton Highlands Monday Club on Feb. 17th. "Organized Charities of Massachusetts" will be the subject of the papers.

On Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 18th, the Newtonville Woman's Guild will meet at the Technical High School hall when a play will be given by Guild members.

At the meeting of the Social Science Club on Wednesday morning, the subject announced for Feb. 12th will be presented, "The Alternative to Socialism."

On Thursday afternoon, Feb. 20th, at 2:15 W. L. Hubbard will give the second lecture on opera before the Newton Centre Woman's Club. The Blue Forest and the Secret of Susanne will be considered. The meeting is open. Free to the public.

Local Happenings

The C. L. S. C. of Newton Highlands was entertained on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Wadsworth. The club having completed the course on South America have turned their attention to the study of John Keats and will devote weeks to the consideration of the man and his poems. The paper on Monday was by Miss Bacall in which she treated the life and letters of the poet. She told of his birth in 1795, of his sad life and his constant battle with disease, and ended in 1821 at the age of twenty-six. His writings were severely criticized and he was not able to rise above it. Among his friends Miss Bacall mentioned Leigh Hunt, whose influence upon him was great, Wadsworth and Charles Lamb. The poet was buried in the Protestant cemetery at Rome, one of the most beautiful spots on which the eye and the heart of man can rest.

Mrs. E. Drown of Lakewood road was the hostess for the meeting of the Monday Club on Feb. 10th. The afternoon was in charge of Mrs. S. L. Eaton. A talk was given by Mrs. W. E. Birdsall, a social worker at the Frances Willard Settlement, on "The Gospel of Progress." Mrs. Birdsall spoke of the necessary training of the settlement worker and of the people among whom she goes and of their problems. Among the contributory causes for the misfortune in our cities are poverty, alcoholism, and the social evil. A humanitarian movement is underway radiating from the charities, the ministry and the social workers. This growth of the love of mankind has come down through the years by various stages till now there is much being done to improve conditions among the ignorant.

The club was given an insight into one line of helpfulness by the visit of Mrs. A. L. Filene with a group of pupils from the Boston Music School Settlement on Salem street. From the ability of these little musicians it is evident that much good is being done and that the whole scheme is of a tremendously elevating nature.

In the absence of Mrs. Putnam, the president, Mrs. George Angier presided at the meeting of the Waban Woman's Club on last Monday. The International Folk Musicale proved a very delightful entertainment. Alexandra Carter-Barrett gave a brief history of the folk songs, telling their origin and characteristics. She said that the Jewish songs were the oldest, dating back to the time of Moses and usually showing resignation. The English often took the wanderer as a subject, while the Italian songs are lighter. The Germans sing of love, the Russian and Scandinavian songs show pathos, and the American folk songs are the negro melodies, the tribal melodies of the Indians and the Cowboy songs. She illustrated her talk with several songs and Alice B. Diaz gave characteristic dances, dressed in the costumes of the different countries. Miss Esther Baxter was at the piano.

The regular meeting of the Auburndale Review Club was held Feb. 11th, with Mrs. Davidson. It was decided to change the date of Gentlemen's Night to Feb. 27th, when a musical and reception will be given to the guests of the club, in the Congregational Chapel. A program of "Old Time Music," will be presented by Mrs. Baker. The morning's program consisted of a paper by Mrs. Hildreth, and the presentation of "David Copperfield" and "Little Emily," by Mrs. Hildreth, Mrs. Blood, Mrs. Almy, Mrs. Gordon, Mrs. Dunton, Mrs. Spaulding, Miss Peloubet and Mrs. Davidson. It was admirably done. Some fine prints illustrating Dickens' characters were loaned by the Public Library for the meeting.

Peace Meeting

A mass meeting in the interests of international peace was the dream of the president of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. Henry Coolidge Mulligan. There were those who almost scoffed at the idea and those who were lukewarm, yet the members of the executive board felt that it was feasible and so the meeting was planned. That Tremont Temple was well filled on Tuesday evening in response to the invitations for such a meeting indicates that the subject is taking firm hold on the minds and hearts of thoughtful people and no longer belongs only to the dreamer.

Shortly after eight the meeting opened with Kipling's "Recessional" sung by the Adelphi quartet. Mrs. Mulligan then welcomed the audience in the name of the Federation and introduced Hon. Samuel W. McCall, who presided during the evening. In his introductory remarks he said that the time has gone by when any one who knows anything about the question considers those interested in peace myopic. The peace problem is engaging the best minds all over the world. The United States, he said, has the greatest war bill of any nation of the world, as much as France and Germany together. Seventy cents of every dollar raised by taxation is used for this purpose. He then proceeded to discuss the fortifying of the Panama Canal and the great expense entailed. The time has come when we should put the oceans of the world in the same class, as England and the United States have put the great lakes. No warships float there and yet no cities are more safe than those upon the great lakes.

Hon. Joseph Walker, the next speaker, stated that war cannot be abolished by paper treaties nor by paper laws. It must rest on a world wide public opinion, which will not tolerate war, and then all disputes will be settled by a peaceful means. Such a public opinion exists today. For the first time in history the United States negotiated such a treaty with Great Britain. This, he characterized as the greatest forward movement ever taken in the world and a great blow was struck against world peace, when it was rejected by the United States. The recent attitude will greatly weaken our position among the nations of the world. He urged the necessity of establishing permanent courts of arbitration and emphasized the great burden of military armaments. No burden begins to rest so heavily on the industrial workers of the world as the military burden. The time has come when public sentiment of the world should be against war. The American people have higher ideals than riches and power, they desire to make the world a better place to live in. What better gift can this country make than that of leadership in the cause of world peace.

Professor George H. Blakeslee of Clark University was then introduced. Prof. Blakeslee said to appreciate the result of world peace one should compare the cities of Mediaeval Germany with those of today. Then they were but petty principalities warring against one another, fighting for just the same things as nations are fighting for at present. Today a reign of law exists and all are at peace. The world today as a whole is in just the same condition as those German cities. Universal peace is coming for the world just as it came for Germany.

He reviewed the gains made through the Hague Court and pointed out that all questions not legal must be settled by the collective judgment of the world. The Hague conferences have already modified and made new laws and these are fully as well obeyed as the laws of Massachusetts are obeyed by its citizens. He touched upon what the powers of Europe have accomplished in bringing about peaceful solutions of problems. The reign of law will eventually displace the reign of war. Our past is to hasten the coming of this age. It can be done by education, by convincing the majority of the citizens of the nations of the world that it is best, wisest, noblest to refer legal matters to the courts and legislative matters to the judgments of the world.

After a selection by the Adelphi quartet the audience joined in singing "Hear, O Ye Nations." Rev. Charles Reynolds Brown, dean of Yale Divinity School made the closing address.

The song of peace, he said, is being sung these days by a sturdy male quartet.

The first bass is a business man who insists that war does not pay. He enters his protest against the financial burden of an increasing and useless armament. He condemns the policy of spending 70 per cent of our national income on the results of past wars in pensions and upon the preparation for possible wars in the future. The Boer war cost Great Britain 2500 million dollars and that to fight 80,000 people, the population of Somerville and Chelsea combined. What would it have cost them to fight equals, spent 70 cents of every dollar for guns and court plas, and with the remaining 30 cents supported the family, educated the children and made provision for old age? Yet that is what we as a nation are doing at the present time. A modern fleet consumes $50,000 worth of ammunition in five minutes. Business men are talking about this and are asking is there not some better way, some cheaper way.

The first tenor in the quartet is a scientific man who points out with telling accuracy the fact that weapons are passing or have passed the point where human nerves will consent to the fruitless task of facing their deadly strokes. Thoughtful men in all the countries of the world are refusing to become the torn and scattered remains for these scientific performances in ruthless slaughter.

The second tenor is a statesman who has been studying the close relations between nations brought about by travel and social alliance, by friendly associations in educational or religious efforts and by community of interest in trade. If one nation suffers, all the other nations suffer with it. The interests of all nations are advanced when any two of them submit their differences to arbitration rather than resort to expensive and demoralizing strife.

The second bass in the quartet is a man who urges those moral considerations which make against the habit of war. The ancient command, "Thou shall not kill" has behind it the authority of Shai. When any nation resorts to murder now that the peaceful method of arbitration of any difficulty lies open, it becomes a murderer.

In closing he said that the outlook is hopeful. It is a matter of serious regret that the treaties failed to pass. He feels deeply on the question of the Panama Canal, if the conditions of the treaty are not recognized. It is fitting that our country should act as a leader in this matter. We stand in a position where we can afford to take a high stand.

After another selection by the quartet the audience joined in singing "America."

State Federation Meeting

The Mid-Winter meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs was held by invitation of the Woman's Charity Club of Boston at Arlington Street Church, Boston, on Wednesday, Feb. 12. At ten o'clock the morning session was called to order by the president, Mrs. Henry Coolidge Mulligan, who presented Mrs. Esther F. Boland, president of the host club. Mrs. Boland welcomed the guests on behalf of her club and spoke of its object, that of supporting a hospital where women may receive free surgical treatment. The club is nearly 25 years old and since the foundation of the hospital 4,000 women have been treated. Rev. Paul Revere Frothingham, minister of the church, then extended the greetings of the church, telling something of its history and referring to the fact that William Ellery Channing was one of the founders of the American Peace Society. Mr. Frothingham predicted that a new era is at hand because of the interest of women in the great problems of the day. Mrs. Mulligan in her response said that she liked to feel that the churches and clubs are in sympathy, for the women are seeking to do work that is worth while. She looked forward to the time when all international disputes will be settled by law, when there shall be no poverty, no child labor, when the children may be strong and happy in God's sunshine, to the time when all shall "do justly, love mercy and walk humbly with God." May good men and good women be banded together to hasten that day.

In presenting the Legislative matters Mrs. Mulligan stated that in selecting the measures to which to lend support the Federation was guided by several considerations. In the first place, it feels that to choose a few lines of work and to concentrate its efforts upon them is the best policy, that in so doing the Federation's endorsement may have great weight with the legislators. Another consideration is that of continuing interest in legislation endorsed in previous years which has not yet been brought to a successful issue. Failure to endorse a measure a second year indicates that new light has been presented which has led the Federation to withdraw its support. It has been the policy to endorse only such measures as bear directly upon the lines of work of the departments of the Federation. Many measures were presented for endorsement, but in several instances even the Legislative department was divided in its opinion and it was decided to be unwise to present any measures unless the Legislative department and the executive board are practically unanimous in favoring it.

Mrs. Snow Rich, chairman of the Legislative department then presented the following measures, which were duly endorsed by the Federation. The Owen bill, for a National Health Service, and the Pace-Wilson bill, also a national matter, providing for appropriations to foster vocational education throughout the United States; House bill 1,000, known as the uniform child labor bill; House bills, 358 and 576, extending civil service rules to county offices; House bills 543 and 1260, anti-polygamy bills; House bill 393, the Ellis Clean Milk bill; Senate bill 131, relative to school and hours of labor of minors; House bill 632, providing for retirement allowances for teachers. The Federation voted to oppose all bills giving Spanish War veterans preference in appointive positions and, as a hearing was then in session, two members were sent to the hearing to present the Federation's opposition.

Hon. Joseph Walker then spoke upon "The Making of a Law." He distinguished between the fundamental law of the Commonwealth, the constitution, and the laws which are enacted each year by the Legislature. He stated that the Massachusetts legislature is the oldest body in the world with the exception of the British Parliament. He then explained how any man, woman or child may petition legislation on any sort of matter, and described the various stages through which a bill must pass before it becomes a law. He said that because every matter presented must be reported upon is one of the reasons for the legislature's sitting from January until July. In many states the sessions are much shorter, some being but two months. He closed his remarks with a statement of what is meant by the initiative and referendum.

The afternoon session opened with a selection upon the organ by John P. Marshall and a group of songs by Miss Evelyn Blair. Resolutions upon the death of Mrs. Jennie B. Wadleigh, one of the vice-presidents of the Federation, were read by the clerk.

The speaker of the afternoon was Prof. Charles Zueblin and his subject, "Saving and Spending." Prof. Zueblin in part:

Thrift, if it means saving and pinching to the exclusion of everything else, narrows the mind and life and is much to be avoided. The thrift and economy which often are born from hardship and deprivation are most unfortunate, but the thrift which comes from spending wisely will mean saving itself. More attention must be paid to collective thrift. And the best method of this is the building association and the insurance company principle. We are just crossing the threshold of insurance possibilities. Insurance is founded on a sound scientific principle, and is much better than individual saving, in that it is more social in its nature. There is insurance protection against accident, sickness and other conditions, which is admirable, but there should be a nationalization of insurance.

One of the principal tenets of expenditure is to "prefer durable goods to perishable." So in spending one should stop and think if he is putting his money into something that will produce the best results. The very rich don't know how to spend their money. Of course they have a right to "frivol" the same as a poor man has his right to his more modest means of enjoyment, but there is always a question as to the real enjoyment one gets from the expenditure of money. There should be a sensible adjustment of saving and spending.

The great problem, after all, is how to distribute income. One man may spend a million a year wisely, but it will not do so much good as the same amount spent by a thousand ordinary individuals. We must seek to distribute income. There are two things necessary for the adjustment of this problem—proper taxation and public ownership. It is the expenditures of the multitude that determine our economic and social conditions.

Ruskin's statement, "There is no wealth but life" emphasizes the thought that the great problem is to secure the fullest life possible for the great mass. This can be accomplished by a greater social expenditure and consumption, by the erection of more and better public buildings for the use of the entire people, libraries, baths, etc., by the laying out of magnificent park system, by the enlargement of our public schools, so that not only the child may be reached by them, but the father and mother as well—all of which will be made possible by the influx of vast public moneys when the problems of taxation are solved, and the burden placed on those who should bear it. The saving and spending for things that will lead to the proper balancing and uplifting of the greatest number is true thrift.

HOME CIRCLE

The next regular meeting will be held on Thursday, Feb. 20, at 2 P. M., in G. A. R. Hall, Newtonville. Plans for coming sale must be decided, and by all interested members. The Food Sale promises to be a grand success.

The travel class of the W. N. W. E. C. held its semi-monthly meeting at the residence of Mrs. Geo. D. Byfield on Thursday, Feb. 6.

Mrs. Bernard Early gave a very interesting talk on the history of Brazil, and the manufacturing, educational and social conditions of Uruguay.

Mrs. Thomas M. Elwell read a fine paper on the history of Paraguay which contained a detailed account of its educational and industrial conditions.

Mrs. Dimond briefly reviewed the British, French and Dutch Guianas.

The event to which the travel class had been looking forward for several weeks, was an informal talk by Mr. Henry C. Hardon, on a recent trip to the West Indies. Mr. Hardon's description of the voyage was so realistic, and observations on the things worth while, so accurate, it seemed at the close of a too short hour, as though the class had taken passage on the same vessel with Mr. Hardon from "Lands of Snow to Lands of Sun." Refreshments were served and a social hour followed.

BRIDGE PARTY

Mrs. George F. Schrafft entertained a large company of friends at a bridge party on Friday afternoon at her residence on Kirkstall road.

The game was auction bridge, and fourteen tables were arranged in the music room and library, which were beautifully decorated for the occasion, the color scheme of each room being carried out in the flowers.

In the music room were Aaron Ward roses, snap-dragon and Spring flowers, and the library was in white, with roses and white lilies as decorations. In the dining-room, where luncheon was served, there was a charming arrangement on mantles and table of Ward roses and lilies.

The prize winners were Mrs. Enoch C. Adams, Mrs. Edward Kimball Hall, Mrs. Clarence Smith, Mrs. Theodore Piser, Mrs. Pitt Drew and Mrs. Francis Wade.

The afternoon session opened with a selection upon the organ by John P. Marshall and a group of songs by Miss Evelyn Blair. Resolutions upon the death of Mrs. Jennie B. Wadleigh, one of the vice-presidents of the Federation, were read by the clerk.

PERKINS INSTITUTE
Description of the New Plant Across the Charles

The Perkins Institution for the blind is "doing well," in the words of its superintendent, Edward E. Allen, in its spacious home at Watertown. Although the workmen are still putting on the finishing touches, and although the grounds have not yet been graded, the school is in practically full working order, and 148 pupils are getting accustomed to their new surroundings.
The new chapel was first used for service on New Year's Day.

This well-known boarding school for the sightless—for such it is, not an asylum or almshouse—has now a splendidly arranged and slightly group of buildings on the North bank of the Charles River, a short distance east of the bridge connecting Newton and Watertown, and within a stone's throw of the Watertown Arsenal. The plant is on what was formerly the Josiah Stickney estate.

The beautiful tower of the main building has been commented upon by thousands of travelers on the Boston & Albany Railroad, whose tracks are on the other side of the river.

For years the institution was in South Boston. There the only way to enlarge was to build upward toward the clouds, while in Watertown the institution found an estate where it could build extensively. The contract price of the entire buildings, including furnishing, was $1,019,000. Work was begun in February, 1911. The architect was R. Clipston Sturgis.

The main building is featured by a handsome tower, 180 feet high, which can be seen for miles around. In time a clock will be installed in the tower and already a peal of bells, brought from England, are being put into place.
On either side of the main building are "cottages," one for the boy pupils, the other for the girls.

The architectural style is English collegiate Gothic. Much of the construction is of brick, but the tower is of concrete which has been so treated that it is indistinguishable in appearance from the concrete stone used for the tower, buttresses, tracery and pilasters.

On the south side of the main building, adjoining the tower, is the assembly room or chapel. South of the assembly room, and with its roof on a level with the assembly floor, is the gymnasium, built of concrete. The library wing is on the east, the great hall on the west.

The latter, which can seat about 400 persons, has a wooden floor, the only large apartment in the entire group so finished. At the north end is a gallery to seat 100 persons, at the south end a stage. The hall rises to the roof of this wing of the main building.

The chapel is finished somewhat elaborately. Three rows of seats along the two sides will seat the pupils of the institution and the teachers. At the south end is the organ console and two banks of crosswise seats. The organ is at the north end of the room.

In the so-called cottages for boys and girls every sleeping room has a southern exposure. The girls' cottage is U-shaped. A court divides the two sections of each cottage and these two divisions are also divided into two parts, each of which is the living quarters for 20 pupils.

A feature of the institution is the tunnel system for the distribution of supplies among the various buildings.
The tunnel starts from the powerhouse at the southwestern corner of the estate. The main tunnel runs in a straight line east under the north side of the girls' part of the main building and the boys' side. Branches extend to the south side of the main building, to the hospital, to the kindergarten group and to the director's house.—

Park Baptist Church has been exceedingly fortunate in securing the Hayden Trio of Boston for the last event of the appeared in Newton a number of times, to the great delight of their audiences, and will doubtless be greeted by a large number of friends on their next appearance.

LASELL SEMINARY

The annual mid-winter reunion of the "old girls" took place Monday afternoon when one hundred and fifty former students gathered together at the Seminary at Auburndale. A reception was held in the parlors at which the following received: Dr. and Mrs. G. M. Winslow, Miss Angelina C.
Blaisdell, Miss Lillie R. Potter and Miss Mary L. Nutt. The musical program consisted of solos by Lucille Scott and Frances Allen, both students at the seminary and a violin selection by Ruth Spindler, a former student.

A luncheon was served in the main dining room which was prettily decorated for the occasion. Dr. and Mrs.
Winslow were presented with a huge basket of Spring flowers and greetings from the old girls were sent to Dr. C.
C. Bradson, principal emeritus, who now lives in California.

The annual White Mountain excursion started this morning.

Miss Gwendolyn Nelson of Somerville, Mass., has been awarded first prize in the Leaves short story contest.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Sarah E. Douglass, who died at her home at Newton Highlands last Thursday morning, in her 81st year, had been a resident of this city since 1896, and the unusual charm of her presence will be greatly missed by all who knew her. Mrs. Douglass was born at Hanover, N. H., the daughter of Rev. Benjamin Hale of Newbury-port, Mass., and Mary Caroline (King) Hale of Saco, Me. In 1856, when her father became president of Hobart College, she removed to Geneva, N. Y. In 1861 she married a clergyman of the Episcopal church, Rev. Malcolm Douglass, afterward rector at Abilene and Waterloo, N. Y., at Windsor, Vt., and an Andover, Mass. He was at one time president of Norwich university at Northfield, Vt. Dr. Douglass died in 1887. Four children of Mrs. Douglass survive her, Miss Douglass occupying the family home on Bowdoin street.

BRILLIANT MUSICALE

Mme. Evelyn Scotney Sings at Reception Given by Mrs. Frank B. Hopewell at Hunnewell Club

Mrs. Frank Blake Hopewell of Park Street entertained a large company of guests at a musicale on Monday evening at the Hunnewell Club.

The interior of the clubhouse presented a scene of splendor, being very elaborately decorated for the occasion by a profusion of American Beauty, rhomb and Killarney roses.

In the dining-room the color scheme in the decorations was red and white. Rich red roses and white lilies were used in charming arrangement on the table. The servers were Mrs. Ham Maryland, Miss Goodall and Miss Mildred Goodall of Brookline, William Elwell of Arlington, Marian Stinson of Belmont, Jessie Burleigh and Mrs. Edward M. Clarke of Natick, Mrs. Frank B. Scott and Mrs. Clarence C. Colby of Winton. Mrs. Hopewell was assisted in receiving her guests by her mother, Edward M. Clarke of Natick.

A representative gathering of society numbering 225 was present from Brookline, Boston, Winchester, Natick and the Newtons.

After the reception, which was held in the ladies' parlor, the whole party turned to the upper hall where a social treat had been provided, all in the nature of a surprise as nothing had been said to the program.

Pretty programs printed in gold and lavender on cream colored paper were distributed by Mme. Evelyn Scotney, Mr. Howard White, Mr. William F. Dodge and Mr. Ernest W. Harrison to be the artists.

Natural interest centered in Mme. Scotney. Mme. Scotney proved to be a most stellar attraction and sang for first selection the aria from "Tristan," a composition that enabled her to advantage the whole gamut of her art from sweetest singing tones to the most florid of technical passages.

"How she sang! It is not possible toold to describe the beauty everything she performed. For a second number she sang a dainty

SIGNAL LANTERN SOCIETY

The regular meeting of the Signal Lantern Society, Children of the American Revolution, Auxiliary of the Revere Chapter of Boston, of which Mr. John Ed. Cox is president, was held Saturday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Alvin R. Bailey, State Director of the C. A. R. Massachusetts.

There was a large company of guests in attendance, including many of the officers and members of other A. R. Societies, and a very pleasing program was arranged for the entertainment, which consisted of music, dancing and readings.

In the dining-room where a Valentine luncheon was served, the decorations of flags, portraits of Washington, and other symbols of patriotism were especially effective. The scene presented a very attractive appearance, with red shaded candelabra, stars, hearts and other Valentine items, as decorations.

The occasion was most delightfully and greatly enjoyed by all present.

LODGES

Those who were fortunate enough to attend the recent Public Installation and dance given by Mt. Ida Hall, Royal Arcanum 1247, at Newton, will be glad to know of the social dance of the Council, which will be given at Dennis Hall, Newtonville, Feb. 24, 1913. Members and their friends are welcome. The Singing Orchestra will furnish music for the occasion.

avant des allees." This too, proved to be an artistic gem and called forth a return.

For her second selection, Mme. Scotney sang a group of songs in English which included "My Laddie" by Thayer. "The Lass with the Delicate Air" by Arnaud and "Down in the Forest" by Ronald. It would not be an easy matter to select the most charming of these numbers. Some said "The Lass with the Delicate Air" while others were enamored with "Down in the Forest," although the latter perhaps displayed the beautiful singing quality of Mme. Scotney's tones a little better than anything else she rendered.

At all events, Mme. Scotney is always sure of a welcome in Newton for she came, she saw and conquered; she was also seen and conquered; for, after the musicale, she graciously received downstairs and proved to be just as enjoyable off the stage as on.

As to the rest of the program. Howard White sang and played the cello. He also read Longfellow's poem, "Robert of Sicily" to piano accompaniment. In all that he did, he pleased and was encored insistently.

Mr. William F. Dodge, some years ago, used to play in Newton all kinds of solos. No matter what he was asked to do, he did it with a pleasing willingness. Then he went away; for several seasons was principal violin with the Philadelphia symphony orchestra; then he conducted the Boston Municipal Orchestra and the next we heard of him he was concert master of our own Boston Opera orchestra. During this time he had gained repose; he has cultivated and achieved maturity of tone; he has developed into a great soloist. His rendition of the Saint Saens "Rondo Capriccioso" was a consummate work and a clear-cut exposition of difficult technique. As an encore number he played Drida's "Souvenir."

The program was rendered under the direction of Mr. A. H. Handley.

EASY WINNERS

Newton High School Track Team Wins Triangular Meet

The track team of the Newton High School scored an easy triumph over the Cambridge High and Latin and Medford H. S. teams last Friday night in the local drill hall, scoring 45 points to 19 for Medford and 6 for Cambridge. A big crowd of followers from each team was present, to cheer their classmates on.

A foul in the relay race, which was easily won by Newton, cost them five points, the race being forfeited to Cambridge Latin. None of the school records were broken in the meet, although an attempt was made to lower the 600 yd. run. Capt. Van Buskirk led the field in this event until the last half lap, when Nathan and Litchfield shot past him and Doyle of Cambridge Latin was close on to Litchfield's heels. Nathan won after a hard tussle from Litchfield for first honors and Doyle finished a good third.

Bancroft of Newton showed excellent form in the 1000 yd. run, defeating Brown, the crack Medford runner, who has gained much success on the track this season. Roberts, who has been coming along steadily the past season, also won first place in the high jump, easily outdistancing the other contestants. The summary:

25-Yard Dash—Won by Van Buskirk, Newton High; Ray Stanley, Newton High, second; O'Neill, Newton High, third. Time, 3 1-58.

300-Yard Run—Won by Tyler, Medford High; Wilbur, Newton High, second; Deusehle, Newton High, third. Time, 39 2-58.

600-Yard Run—Won by Nathan, Newton High; Litchfield, Newton Latin, second; Doyle, Cambridge Latin, third. Time, 1m 24s.

1000-Yard Run—Won by Bancroft, Newton High; Brown, Medford High, second; Boyd, Newton High, third. Time, 2m 35 2-58.

Running High Jump—Won by Roberts, Newton High, height 5ft 4 1-2in; Burrows, Newton High, second, height 5ft 3 1-2in; Gifford, Medford High, third, height 5ft 2 1-2in.

Shotput—Won by Walker, Newton High, distance 41ft 6in; Dwyer, Medford High, second, distance 39ft 8in; Eric Christensen, Medford High, third, distance 38ft 11in.

Midget Race, Newton High vs Medford High—Won by Newton (Barber, Dougherty, Burrows, Daniels); Medford High (Cosgrove, Early, Haskell, Roberts), second. Time, 55s.

Senior Race, Newton High vs Cambridge L. S. vs Medford High—Won by Newton (Litchfield, Wilbur, Ellison, Van Buskirk); Cambridge L. S. (Doyle, Aaronson, Reid, Raymond); Medford High (Coddington, Harvey, Sullivan, Molster), third. Time, 2m 34 2-58. (Newton High disqualified for fouling.)

POLICE NOTES

Pedro Augustina, a Mexican, was arrested early Friday morning last by patrolman Carrigan, as he was about to board a freight train at the Newton Depot, and spent two days behind the bars, while the police searched for interpreters, to learn his identity. Thru the interpreters, Frederick Bond, 19, of Worcester, who speaks four languages and has a knowledge of three others, and Girodo Corral, a 15-year-old son of a large Cuban cigar manufacturer, the man informed them that he was beating his way north from the Mexican revolt, and was in hopes of landing some job. When asked about the blood stained knife found in his possession, the man stated that was due to a recent nose bleed, but the police are of the opinion that the man killed several chickens for food on his way north. He was allowed to go by Judge Bacon on condition that he get out of the city as soon as possible.

Mr. White then played a group of cello solos. By special request he gave, as encore numbers, "Off to Philadelphia" and "Uncle Rome" accompanying both of them himself.

The final number of the program was the Bach-Gounod "Ave Maria" with cello obligato.

In reverting back to the concert in detail and thinking over each artist, Mme. Scotney naturally stands first.

Her exposition of true artistry, of brilliancy, a diction unrivaled, a personality that wins at sight,—all place her in the highest rank of operatic and coloratura sopranos. At all events, Newton patrons of the Boston Opera will now watch to see her announcement in the title roles and upon such occasions, she may be sure of a great number of Newtonians being in her audience.

GRAND BALL

Social Event Given by Gethsemane Commandery, K. T. T.

The second entertainment this winter of Gethsemane Commandery, Knights Templar, was held Wednesday evening at the Masonic Building, Newtonton. The affair took the form of a Grand Ball and was a great social success, with 300 Sir Knights and ladies present from Newton and surrounding towns. The ball was handsomely decorated and the beautiful gowns of the ladies made a charming scene. Atwood's orchestra furnished music for the dancing which took place in Temple hall.

The invited guests assembled in the asylum and after the Grand Commander Frank L. Nagle, Mrs. Nagle and the members of the Commander's suite had been received with fitting honors, a reception was held, the escort of the Commandery acting as ushers.

Those in the line comprising Eminent Commander William L. Church and Mrs. Church, Grand Commander Frank L. Nagle and Mrs. Nagle, Grand Generalissimo Walter Medding and Mrs. Medding, Grand Lecturer, Isaac Chase and Mrs. Chase, Past Grand Lecturer George W. Bishop and Mrs. Bishop, Past Commander George T. Copping and Mrs. Copping, Past Commander James B. Fuller and Mrs. A. C. Daniels, Past Commander Lewis E. Blinney and Mrs. Blinney. The guard consisted of Adjt. A. E. Billings, Charles F. Ward, Harry W. Twigg, O. H. Butler, Edgar M. Parker, F. W. McAleer, Charles E. Conant, Christopher J. Flye, W. B. Livermore, Arthur W. Porter, Harry B. Knowles, C. E. Fish, F. H. Paul, H. B. Nickerson, J. Everett Hicks, Allen D. Cady, Paul C. Sykes, Charles E. Fogg and C. E. A. Ross.

After the reception the company proceeded to the banquet hall, which had been arranged for the ball, and after the grand march, with the escort leading the line, the dancing began, and for a second encore played a tuneful, brilliant number called the "Music Box."

For a long time, many of the Newton Club members have been anxious to hear Mr. Ernest W. Harrison in the role of solo pianist, and at this concert their wish was gratified. Did Mr. Harrison please? He certainly did, and for a second encore played a tuneful, brilliant number called the "Music Box."

Mr. White's group of songs was another repetition of his past successes and Mr. North, in his solo number, the Kohler "Italian Fantasy," gave good evidence as to the almost unlimited range of his technique, interpretation and musical ability.

Mme. Scotney's group of Scotch songs were received with unusual favor. It did not seem possible that one who had sung the florid passage of the "Mad Scene" could so hold in check their brilliance and sing with such calm and peacefulness those old melodies that will never die. Mme. Scotney graciously responded to several encores, again winning a closer place in the hearts of her musical captives.

The general supervision of the event was in the hands of the Commander William L. Church, with A. Sidney Bryant, Treasurer, and the deputies subdivided for the following committees: Reception, Past Commander George T. Copping, Grand Commander Frank L. Nagle, Past Commander George Breeden, William F. Jarvis, E. G. Pond, Samuel Shaw, Asa C. Jewell, William E. Peterson, James B. Fuller, Lewis E. Blinney and A. L. Harwood with J. E. Hicks, Charles J. THE PERKINS CHIMES

During the last week a beautiful set of chimes has been installed in the lofty central tower that surmounts the splendid group of buildings recently occupied by the Perkins Institution for the Blind beside the Charles in Watertown. The great bells, eight in number were brought from England, and are arranged to be rung as a peal, after the English fashion, or as chimes, which is the common way in this country. When rung as a peal, eight men are required to handle them. The man who came from England to install them has been playing them the last few days to the great pleasure of all, within the radius of a mile or so. They are especially effective when heard across the Charles in Newton and Brighton.—Boston Herald.

DEATH OF MRS. WHITE

Mrs. James Dexter White, one of the early residents of Newtonville and a charter member of the Methodist Church, passed away Sunday February 16th, after a long and painful illness.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday, February 18th at her late residence in Hyannisport, and the interment was in the family lot in the Newton Cemetery.

OPERATIC NIGHT

Excellent Music Enjoyed by Members of the Newton Club

A long anticipated and most pleasurable concert is what the Operatic night of the Newton Club proved to be last Tuesday evening. Of course, Mme. Evelyn Scotney was the chief magnet, and she had in her support, a most commendable list of assisting artists—for instance Ernest W. Harrison at the piano; Charles K. North as flute obligatist and neither last, nor by any means least, Howard White.

The opening number was by Mr. White, "Couples de Vulcain" from Gounod's "Philemon et Baucis." I do not know what the words were, but he sang beautiful music in a worthy manner. His interpretation and intonation and tune—well—they were Mr. White's and that means a great deal.

Instead of keeping the audience waiting for the piece de resistance, it followed the opening number—the "Mad Scene" from Donizetti's "Lucia di Lammermoor." Everybody nearly has heard some one sing this number, but it is very much doubted if they have heard it sung as well as Mme. Scotney sang it last Tuesday evening. One gentleman remarked to his neighbor, "I have already been repaid for traveling a great many miles to hear this concert." Another young lady stated to her friend, "It is not possible." But there were the living examples—the soloist—the flutist and the obligatist. The reception rendered them after this number, must have been pleasing, for the very rafters seemed to ring.

No one appeared on the petitions of W. H. Cross, Hunnewell avenue and of Trowbridge & Estabrook, High street, to keep gasoline and the petitions were granted.

Chestnut Hill sent down a distinguished delegation to favor the widening of Hammond street and Middlesex road, but to oppose the work being done under the betterment law.

Representative James A. Lowell said that the work would not help the development of the land and would only allow automobiles to pass more easily.

It was a general improvement in his opinion. Mr. E. M. Sheafe, president of the Longwood Cricket Club, told how the matter had been suggested in connection with the recent widening of Dunster road. Mr. P. E. Presby, secretary of the club, said that they were willing to give a certain amount of land towards the project, although as much as had been suggested at first.

The Club had already made a considerable improvement in the land and with the contemplated improvements in the next two years, the city ought not to expect it to do more than give the land to the city.

Mr. Francis W. Lee said that his children had frequently amused themselves by counting the number of automobiles passing his house on Hammond street and had counted on Sundays as high as 150 to 175 automobiles an hour. This showed in his opinion that Hammond street was used by the general public and was not exclusively for Chestnut Hillers. The widening would relieve a dangerous corner. He predicted that when the Cricket Club has become established there would be a large demand for new houses, which would bring considerable taxes to the city.

Mr. Thomas T. Baldwin said that he opposed acting under the betterment law, but would give his land for the widening, altho personally he preferred allowing it to remain as it was.

Ex-Alderman E. P. Saitontall said that he and Mr. Harry H. Bemis were

Specialized Banking Service

Many banks look with favor on all classes of legitimate business and endeavor to serve all classes. As competition grows, however, and as related industries gradually center in one locality, banks have begun to specialize in certain lines of commerce.

The Lincoln Trust Company, while it is equipped to handle all classes of financial business, specializes to quite an extent in the banking requirements of wholesalers in the shoe, leather and textile lines, whose business is centered in the section of the city in which this institution is located.

Kindly Light," "Crossing the Bar," and "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," were beautifully rendered by the Mendelsohn Quartet. The remains were cremated at Mt. Auburn. The survivors are a husband and one daughter, Miss Rachel Felton.

LODGES

Tennyson Rebekah Lodge, I. O. O.
F., held an enjoyable costume party
Tuesday evening, in Odd Fellows' Hall, West Newton, the affair being attended by fully 150 couples. The members and guests were all attired in costumes, depicting all ages and classes. The grand march was led by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Farmer, followed by 100 couples. The committee in charge of the arrangements comprised Mrs. J. C. Carley, Mrs. John Mauter,
Mr. and Mrs. Henry Buck, Mrs. Francis Skettom and J. C. Carley. During intermission refreshments were served.

MILITARY BALL

Company C, Fifth Regiment, which will attend the inauguration of President Wilson at Washington on March 4th, will hold a grand ball on March 26 to reimburse the company treasury for the expenses incurred. Mayor Hatfield and the city government will attend and many prominent ladies have consented to act as patronesses.

N. H. S.

The inter-class meet of the Newton High School will be held tomorrow night in the Drill Hall. All members of the classes have been training hard for the past fortnight, and the events should all be hotly contested.

ALL OF A SUDDEN PEGGY

The Boston Association of Smith College Alumnae will give All of a Sunday Peggy in Jordan Hall next Friday and Saturday for the college fund.

MAKES USE OF SCORCHED TIMBER.

The great forest fires which unfortunately occur almost every autumn leave vast quantities of "fire killed timber." This is now being used extensively for many purposes, being preferred in some cases to green timber.
Fruit growers, for instance, are said to prefer it for packing boxes because it is almost odorless and does not impart an unnatural flavor to the fruit.

Telephone poles and railway ties are also made to advantage from fire killed timber.

Truth About Domestic Duties.

There is absolutely nothing in domestic duties themselves, or in any form of manual labor that develops the mind or elevates and broadens the character. The idea that every woman in needs practical instruction in housekeeping as a part of her education is absurd as would be the claim that every man should be taught in school to plant corn or milk a cow.—Mary Leal Harkness.

Failing Appetite.

At breakfast in a country boarding house a girl of 12 got away with a dish of prunes, a bowl of cereal, three eggs, two muffins, three slices of bread, two glasses of milk and two cups of coffee. "Well, Mary," someone remarked, "you seem to have a good appetite." Regretfully the child answered, "Not very; 'tisn't nearly as good as it used to be."

He and Another Man.

A woman who owns a little brown rowboat, which when not in use is sheltered in Cape Ann cove, responded to a knock at her door the other day to find a very tall minuteman boy standing on the threshold. "Please, ma'am," hissed he, "can we an' another man have the loan of the brown skiff to go a-cod fishin'?"

On the Same Plane.

"I went into politics," said the serious woman, "so that when national topics come up I can understand what my husband is talking about." "And has your plan succeeded?" "To a certain extent. It has brought us into closer mental accord, for I find that he doesn't understand, either."

It, Also, Talks.

Hush money is sure to blab, sooner or later.

There is only another week in which to take advantage of the special prices quoted during the Annual Inventory sale at the Laurier Company's famous bookstore. It has been one of the most successful sales ever held by them and many special offers are being made to make the last week of the month.

Company has been buying in several extensive private libraries during the past few months and has been obliged to store them awaiting a chance to show them in the store. This chance will come with the close of the inventory sale and the books will be placed on sale immediately after the first of the month.

OPERATIC NIGHT

Mr. White has appeared before, several times and each time he appears he is welcomed with deeper fervor. As a cellist, a reader or as a singer, he occupies with his audience a very warm place. His willingness to please being one of the most delightful aspects of his make up.

Mr. North has played at the Newton Club a great many times in years gone by and has always remembered with pleasure the many concerts that have been given under such directors as Arthur Nikish, Emil Moltenhau and many others, but he says none of them pleased as this operatic concert,

Mr. Harrison was a revelation to many. His playing showed him in a new light. Neither must his masterly and musically accompanying be lost sight of. With such an accompanist, the foundation for such a successful concert is laid.

The concert was under the direction of Mr. A. H. Handley.

EDITORIAL

The death roll of Newton's honored citizens is constantly lengthening, and it is with the deepest grief that we add this week the name of Mr. Edwin O.
Childs. Mr. Childs was one of those men who leave a trail of sunshine and good cheer along the way. His greeting was always cordial and his genial presence among us will be sadly missed. Mr. Childs has served the city and county for many years with faithfulness and skill and has proved himself a good public servant. Few men had a wider acquaintance or a more loyal circle of friends than Mr. Childs, and his death will be widely mourned.

The widening of Hammond street at Chestnut Hill is a needed public improvement and one which should be borne by the whole city, as there can be no question that this important street is a thoroughfare. With the work already accomplished and which the Longwood Cricket Club contemplate in the near future, it would be the height of folly to delay this widening, as it is certain that it can never be done any cheaper than at present. An investment now will yield constantly increasing benefits as the years pass by.

The election of Dr. Guy M. Winslow as an alderman from Ward 4, not only secures the services of a high grade citizen in this important position, but it is grateful courtesy to the members of the Progressive party. Dr.
Winslow being the candidate of that party last fall for Representative.
His election at this time by a Republican board of aldermen indicates a spirit of good will and a desire to sink all party differences for the good of the city.

Attention is invited to the remarks of Mr. James H. Hustis on the cost of electrification of the Boston & Albany Railroad. If the residents of this city are willing to pay the cost of the work in increased fares we should favor compulsory electrification. If we are not willing to pay more money, let us give Mr. Hustis' figures the most careful consideration before taking further action.

UNITARIAN CLUB

The monthly meeting of the Unitarian Club of Newton was held last evening at Channing Church parlors and there was a good attendance. A dinner was served at 6:30, followed at eight o'clock by an address by Mr.
Channing Cox of Boston, chairman of the Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives, on the Massachusetts Legislature. Mr. Cox gave an enjoyable talk on the methods of procedure in making laws in this state and his comments on the various kinds of proposed legislation were most interesting. He mentioned the attempt of changes in election laws, the attempt to abolish party enrollment, the initiative and referendum and the proposed Utilities Commission. In closing Mr.
Cox said,—

All along the line of great humanitarian legislation Massachusetts has blazed the trail. She was the first state to establish free schools. She was the first state to start with the proposition that her criminals should be reformed, not punished; the first state to open up great sanatoria for the care of her consumptives, the first state to provide the treatment we do for our insane. She was the first state to attempt the adequate regulation of public service companies. She was the first state to provide great parks and playgrounds for her people, and she was the first state to go ahead even of the states with which she is in keen industrial competition and try to restrict the employment of children in dangerous occupations and try to make it possible for women who are obliged to work to grow up to a healthy motherhood. Massachusetts has done these things. I believe she has done them because she has had a legislature composed of men who have been willing to respond to the demands of the people of Massachusetts, and I believe that the people of Massachusetts have insisted upon these things.
They have kept in touch with what their legislature and their legislators are doing. Every once in a while a man who is doing work of this sort wants to have his hands upheld. Every man who is trying to do right and stand up and be counted for the right needs the support of the right men of the community. See to it that you uphold the hands of your representatives when they are doing right; see to it that you know it when they are doing wrong. Let each one of us try to make Massachusetts just a little bit better than we found it, so that our children can say, as a distinguished son of Massachusetts said, "I shall not enter upon any ecumene upon Massachusetts; she needs none. There she stands—behold her, and judge for yourselves."

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

State Auditor White has sent a warning to the Legislature this week in a report on the estimated expenses for the present year, which he places at over $15,000,000. This figure would indicate a state tax of $8,000,000, as compared with $6,250,000 last year. As Newton pays practically 2 per cent of the state tax, this would add something like $35,000 to the tax levy.

The Boylston Street Merchants' Association were before Metropolitan Affairs Wednesday with proposition to straighten the Boylston street subway, now building, carrying it straight down Boylston street to a connection with the Washington street tunnel and with a connection to the South Station. This improvement was presented in two forms, one costing $235, 000 and one $435,000 more than the present contract.

"If the Boston & Albany service, both passenger and freight, today is not generally satisfactory to the public that it serves, then the fact is not known to its management. Its service is not perfect, and it never will be, but if it is to continue to serve the public satisfactorily it must receive from the dent of the organization.

Mr. Earle L. Ovington of Newton Highlands, the well known aviator, spoke before the Committee on Roads and Bridges Tuesday in favor of a bill to require each flying machine and every aviator to be licensed by the Highway Commission.

The dentists of the state are greatly interested in the bill to authorize dental nurses and there was a largely attended hearing yesterday. Dr. William P. Cooke of Newton Centre was a leader of the side favoring the measure.

The House had a long debate this week on a bill to prevent civil service examiners from inquiring into any police court records of applicants made before they were 18 years of age. The present law to make the limit 16 years was passed over Governor Foss' veto a year or so ago. The bill was amended after considerable debate and now fixes the age limit at 17 years.
It will probably receive a further veto from the Governor.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURG, Editor.

Perhaps no feature of Federation work has taken on larger proportions than has the conference idea during the last five years. The department which does not hold at least one conference during the year is the exception rather than the rule and it is not unusual that a department holds several local ones in different parts of the state during the season. When a club invites a department to hold a conference with it, it is usually supposed that the members of that club are particularly interested in the subject in hand and will attend in large numbers. Yet more than once it has happened that the visitors have outnumbered the members of the hostess club. In fact, the members of the club have sometimes been conspicuous by their absence. Now the value of such conferences has been the carrying of Federation work directly to the club. But when the members do not attend, the very object has been defeated. The members of the Federation departments are giving of their time and strength to benefit the club and the club has failed to profit by it. It is much as if a mother were to give a family party and the daughters were not on hand to do their part in welcoming the guests.

Such a conference is to be held next Wednesday at Newtonville on the Education department under the auspices of the Newton Federation. A word to the club women of Newton is sufficient. The name is descriptive. No steels or wires to bring pressure on the hips. The most comfortable lace-front corset in existence. We also carry a pleasing variety of famous Derry Underwear. ## Local Happenings

The last meeting of the Pierian Club was held at the home of Mrs. C. P. Rogers, Jr. Mrs. L. P. Everett was in charge of the afternoon, presenting a paper in which she considered "The Economic Conditions of Ireland." The customary social hour followed the program.

At the social service meeting of the Newton Centre Woman's Club held on Feb. 13 Alton E. Briggs spoke on "The New England's Food Supply: Its Cost and Conservation." In the light of all that he said of the very small per cent of foodstuffs produced in New England as compared with the amounts consumed in Boston alone, and of the long distances these foodstuffs have to come to us, the seriousness of only a possible railroad strike is brought home. Mr. Briggs laid emphasis on the "cost of high living," rather than on the high cost of living in these days when all want the best and exact such a remarkable sort of service from the small retail dealer, when many want luxuries and the credit system, and buy so much more than is needed. In these times of the great increase in the non-producing population, he urges that New England become a producing community itself and that people cultivate the art of proper buying. He also spoke of the absolutely economic necessity of the refrigerated article.

The annual musical of the West Newton Women's Educational Club was held at Players' Small Hall on Friday, Feb. 14, at 2:30 P.M. The afternoon was in charge of the music committee, Mrs. H. D. McIntosh, chairman. Miss Iva Roberts read Monsieur Beauchare, and the Misses Turner of Georgia, rendered unpublished negro songs of the old South. Miss Roberts has a charming personality and exhibited an excellent understanding of her subject. The Misses Turner sang with delightful spirit and expression, their voices being peculiarly well fitted each other for duet work. The appearance of this trio drew an enthusiastic audience that filled the hall. After the program, the members and guests gathered in the tea room where dietary refreshments were served. The decorations were red and white, symbolic of the day. Mrs. Arthur B. Munroe, hostess, was assisted by Mrs. T. King, Mrs. F. C. Graves, Mrs. Chas. C. Parlin and Miss Ethel Morgan. Mrs. H. K. Burris and Mrs. Harry S. Wells presided over the tea table. A delightful afternoon was the expression of all present.

On Saturday afternoon, Feb. 15, the Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club met with Mrs. E. J. Smith of Hyde street, when Acts IV and V of Coriolanus were studied.

The Mid-Winter meeting of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs will be held on Wednesday, Feb. 26, at 2:30 P.M. at the Technical High School hall. The program is in charge of the Education department of the State Federation. Mrs. Claude U. Gilson of Wellesley Hills will conduct a conference on "Moral Education" to be followed by questions and discussion, after which the Montessori method of instructing children will be presented, several of the kindergartens of the Newton schools taking part. A social hour will follow. Admission by card bearing name of club. Mrs. Henry Coolidge Mulligan, president of the State Federation, will be present.

Conservation Conference.

By invitation of the West Roxbury Woman's Club a conference on Conservation was held in that place on Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 18. Mrs. Walter G. Newell, president of the Club, extended greetings to the visitors and told of her club's work for children's gardens last year and the plan of an exhibit this coming spring of wild flowers gathered by the children. Miss Mary C. Sweet, the new chairman of conservation, then took the chair and presided for the rest of the afternoon.

Miss Sweet spoke of the conference of governors called by President Roosevelt in 1908 as the inauguration of this movement for conservation. They said, "We are prosperous now, let us conserve our national resources for our children and our children's children." She then went on to mention some of the things which have been done in this country to conserve our resources. By irrigation desert regions have been made fertile, and wet lands have been reclaimed. In speaking of work done by city clubs she told of certain things often classified under the subject of civics, but which really tend to the conservation of life,—the cleaning up of city streets, the playground movement, and the district nursing work. Other work recommended for city clubs included children's gardens, the care of trees upon the city streets and the formation of study classes on conservation.

A member of the West Roxbury Club told more in detail of their work in co-operation with the Parents' Association in furnishing seeds to the children for home gardens. In the fall an exhibition was held and prizes awarded, these prizes being ribbons. The Roslindale Community Club has also done work along this line. A member of the Brightelmstone Club told of their work for the care of trees. They have planted many themselves, have interested the children and the school masters to have them planted in the school yards. The Mattapan Club of South Boston has worked to have trees replaced where it has been necessary to cut down the old ones.

Mrs. Fred H. Tucker, former chairman of the department, then spoke of Work in Country Clubs. She said that it is often difficult to differentiate the work of city clubs from that of country clubs. The broad phases of the subject may be studied by both. City conditions, that of paved streets and curbsides, may exist in the country as well. The difficulty of making trees grow along paved streets had been touched upon and Mrs. Tucker told the members that it is possible to arrange conditions, so that the trees will grow. She called attention to the importance of country roadside conditions. With the present moth pests it is impossible to leave the thick tangle along the roadsides, as has been previously urged from an artistic point of view. The farmers have been in the habit of mowing down everything, but Mrs. Tucker said that it would be possible to leave the seedling trees without danger from moths. She spoke of the difference between country roads and city streets in that the trees along the road should be more irregular in their planting and may be of various kinds, while for the city street the same kind should be planted in regular rows. She urged the clubs to pay more attention to beautifying the roads connecting the different towns. She urged the work of children's gardens, saying that they are needed just as much in the country as in the city. She spoke at length of the need of reforestation of Massachusetts, for at present 95 per cent of the wood used in the state is imported. Municipal forests were explained. Proposed legislation in matters relating to forestry was explained. In closing Mrs. Tucker said, "Whatever we do for the localities, study the abundant opportunities for humorous treatment lurking in such a plot, with incidental occasions for well controlled sentiment and philosophical revelation of the feminine side of human nature."

POP CONCERT AND DANCE

The Village Night Pop Concert and dance given Wednesday evening in Newton Centre under the auspices of the Newton Centre Village Improvement Society was a great success both socially and financially.

A company of members and guests numbering fully 300 assembled in Bray Hall, which was attractively decorated for the occasion with flags and bunting.

An excellent program was arranged for the entertainment which included several novel and unusual features, which were highly amusing to the audience.

A Suffragette parade, composed of eight gentlemen in ladies' costume, invaded the hall and conducted themselves in such a disorderly manner that they had to be forcibly ejected by Mr. Paul and Dr. Andrews, both of whom, dressed in becoming uniforms, assumed the responsibilities of officers of the law. Another feature which also caused much merriment was the arrest by these officers of Chairman Rice, for the alleged sale of intoxicating drinks. Mr. Rice was bailed out by friends, but the judge sentenced him to a five weeks' sojourn at the Mothers' Rest.

Kanrich's Orchestra was in attendance and furnished a delightful program of music during the evening and dancing followed the entertainment. The gowns worn by the ladies were especially handsome and elaborate.

The concert was under the direction of the following committee, of which Mr. William H. Rice was chairman, and Mr. George C. Ewing, treasurer; Concert and Dance Committee included Mrs. George F. Spaulding, Mr. and Mrs. Waldron H. Rand, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Allen Hubbard; Hall and Table Committee, Mr. Arthur W. Rayner, Mr. George L. West, Mr. F. Hartwell Greene; Refreshment Table: Mrs. Sidney R. Porter, Mrs. Albert Bartlett Cram, Mrs. Albert M. Powlo, Mrs. Ora F. Sampson and Mrs. Edward C. Sandy; Candy Table: Mrs. William H. Rice, Mrs. Ralph Alvord, Mrs. C. E. Kelsey, Mrs. Charles L. Smith, Mrs. Charles A. Swan, Mrs. S. W. Wilder, Mr. Howard Emerson had charge of the drinks and cigars and the corps of servers were under the direction of Mr. Robert Spaulding.

Mr. Sidney R. Porter and Mr. J. M. Kellaway served on the program committee. King's Orchestra furnished the music, and a very enjoyable evening was spent. Committee in charge were E. Perkins, Herbert MacKenzie, Edward Wilson, Geo. Deary, H. W. Forbes, John McCausland, Malcolm McPhee.

The Pierian Club's work for children's gardens last year and the plan of an exhibit this coming spring of wild flowers gathered by the children. Miss Mary C. Sweet, the new chairman of conservation, then took the chair and presided for the rest of the afternoon.

Miss Sweet spoke of the conference of governors called by President Roosevelt in 1908 as the inauguration of this movement for conservation. They said, "We are prosperous now, let us conserve our national resources for our children and our children's children." She then went on to mention some of the things which have been done in this country to conserve our resources. By irrigation desert regions have been made fertile, and wet lands have been reclaimed. In speaking of work done by city clubs she told of certain things often classified under the subject of civics, but which really tend to the conservation of life,—the cleaning up of city streets, the playground movement, and the district nursing work. Other work recommended for city clubs included children's gardens, the care of trees upon the city streets and the formation of study classes on conservation.

A member of the West Roxbury Club told more in detail of their work in co-operation with the Parents' Association in furnishing seeds to the children for home gardens. In the fall an exhibition was held and prizes awarded, these prizes being ribbons. The Roslindale Community Club has also done work along this line. A member of the Brightelmstone Club told of their work for the care of trees. They have planted many themselves, have interested the children and the school masters to have them planted in the school yards. The Mattapan Club of South Boston has worked to have trees replaced where it has been necessary to cut down the old ones.

Mrs. Fred H. Tucker, former chairman of the department, then spoke of Work in Country Clubs. She said that it is often difficult to differentiate the work of city clubs from that of country clubs. The broad phases of the subject may be studied by both. City conditions, that of paved streets and curbsides, may exist in the country as well. The difficulty of making trees grow along paved streets had been touched upon and Mrs. Tucker told the members that it is possible to arrange conditions, so that the trees will grow. She called attention to the importance of country roadside conditions. With the present moth pests it is impossible to leave the thick tangle along the roadsides, as has been previously urged from an artistic point of view. The farmers have been in the habit of mowing down everything, but Mrs. Tucker said that it would be possible to leave the seedling trees without danger from moths. She spoke of the difference between country roads and city streets in that the trees along the road should be more irregular in their planting and may be of various kinds, while for the city street the same kind should be planted in regular rows. She urged the clubs to pay more attention to beautifying the roads connecting the different towns. She urged the work of children's gardens, saying that they are needed just as much in the country as in the city. She spoke at length of the need of reforestation of Massachusetts, for at present 95 per cent of the wood used in the state is imported. Municipal forests were explained. Proposed legislation in matters relating to forestry was explained. In closing Mrs. Tucker said, "Whatever we do for the localities, study the abundant opportunities for humorous treatment lurking in such a plot, with incidental occasions for well controlled sentiment and philosophical revelation of the feminine side of human nature."

HOGS or BABIES?

Should hogs be better raised than babies? Two Iowa women thought not. They judged babies as cattle are judged and awarded prizes to the healthiest babies at baby shows. They started a movement for "Better Babies" which is spreading everywhere, and the Woman's Home Companion is helping. The March number tells all about it—15c.

Boston High School of Commerce Has An Easy Victory

Three Juniors in the Newton High School, while skating on Crystal Lake, Centre, on Monday afternoon, a narrow escape from drowning in the ice broke and let them into freezing water of the lake. The three were Miss Eleanor Dowd, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Dudley of Berwick road, Newton Highlands, and Gordon Banchor, the son of Franklyn Banchor of Austin street, Newtonville. The young people were together and in passing over ice where the ice cutters had been at work, the new ice gave way under their weight. While all three could swim, their heavy clothing and the weight of the water greatly handicapped their own efforts to save themselves. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Huntman of Bow street, Newton Highlands, were swimming nearby and hastened to the place where they saw the three heading in the water. They were beaten in the rescue race, however, by a strong man, who went away afterwards without revealing his identity. This man threw himself at full length in the ice and squirmed to the open edge. Mr. and Mrs. Huntman stepped his heels and held him from drowning while he pulled Miss Dowd from the water. Her two companions, swimming, pushed her toward the cavers.

At this moment a handcar came along the Boston & Albany tracks. It stopped the car and hurried down embankment with a coil of insulation wire. In each end of this wire was a loop and cast it towards the water. The first cast fell short but the second time the loop fell squarely over the heads and eventually the pair pulled to shore by the four handmen. They were badly chilled in their long stay in the water, but rested on helping Miss Dowd. The crew of the handcar comprised Miss Collins, foreman; James Burns, New York; Warren H. Bennett of Everett, and Michael Barrett of Newton Centre.

MR. CHILDS BURIED

Hot Church, one of the largest in the city, was well filled last Sunday afternoon by the many friends, by their presence testified to the esteem felt for the late Edward O. Childs. Rich and poor, high and low, Protestant and Catholic, alike mourned the death of a man who had led a long and useful life, a man to all classes and creeds. The services were of a simple nature, consisting of reading of the scriptures by Rev. H. Grant Person, pastor of the church, and prayer by Rev. Scott Calkins, a former pastor. A quartet sang "While We Seek," "Love Divine," and "Iide With Me," and Mr. Truette played at the organ. The ushers were Messrs. A. W. Porter, W. F. Garrison, E. N. Putnam, Wm. J. Doherty, E. Emery, Wm. T. Coppinger, Howard Scott, Wm. Hanson, C. S. Ensign, N. O. Porter, Joseph Regan, Alderman John W. Murphy, George A. Sturz, and Charles Chasson. The chancel of the church was filled with the most beautiful flowers, including tributes from the registry of the Fraternity Lodge, F. & A. M. Fraternity, A. A., Waltham Lodge, B. E., officers of the Probate Court, many others. A large delegation from Waltham Lodge of B. E. and Fraternity Lodge, the Chancery and the letter carriers were well represented. The interment was in the family lot in the Newton Cemetery.

Y. M. C. A. BOWLING CLUB DINES

The Newton Y. M. C. A. Bowling Club was entertained at a sumptuous dinner-party on Monday evening at Price's Lunch room on Centre street.

Members of the winning team were the guests of Mr. Newcomb's team, and not even the present high cost of living could check the enthusiasm which the successful opponents displayed in their reckless consumption of food. An excellent menu was served, which would tempt the most Epicurean taste, and to three of the gentlemen present, was awarded the championship for the highest score in eating.

It was a very delightful social affair and was participated in by the following gentlemen: Messrs. Charles G. Newcomb, H. H. Hawkins, Ted Morton, D. W. Anders, B. G. Seccord, S. H. Poad, T. J. Birmingham, and E. D. Tuttle.

Boston High School of Commerce Has An Easy Victory

The Boston High School of Commerce track team defeated the Newton High School team, 58 3-5 to 38 2-6 points in a practice dual meet at the Boston gymnasium and board track Wednesday afternoon.

The 30-yard dash, hurdles, high jump and the shotput were held indoors and the other events took place on the board track. The Newton team was slightly handicapped because the boys were forced to use sneakers in the gymnasium, which they were not accustomed to when competing at Wednesday afternoon.

Newton failed to show superior strength in the 300, 600 and 1000-yard runs on the board track because Commerce divided the points. In the mile run, Commerce registered eight points.

Capt. Elmer Smith showed up best for Commerce. He won the 300-yard dash, tied for first in the high jump with Davis and ran on the relay team. It was through his running that Commerce won the team race.

G. L. Lickneid of Newton did splendid work by winning the 30-yard dash, and finishing third in the 600-yard run. Bancroft, Wilbur and Walker were the other Newton stars.

The feature race of the afternoon was the relay race, the final event of the program. Newton High led until the second lap of the final runners, when Capt. Elmer Smith of the Commerce team overtook Charles Wilbur of Newton, who had 15 yards on him. The Commerce boy just broke the tape with a close race in front of Wilbur.

30-Yard Dash—Won by Egbert, Allen School; Kimball, Arlington High, second; Curtiss, Allen School, third; Culler, Arlington High, fourth.

1000-Yard Run—Won by Goldsmith, Arlington High; Blinn, Allen School, second; Zwingle, Arlington High, third. Time 2m. 49s.

600-Yard Run—Won by Allison, Allen School; Wunderlich, Arlington High, second; Hatfield, Arlington High, third; Prouty, Allen School, fourth. Time 1m. 32s.

Following the awarding of the scholarship, the executive committee consisting of Dr. George L. West '09, E. C. Blodgett '06, Joseph A. Lowell '01, Howard Hackett '01 George W. Pratt '02, William Lloyd Garrison '07 and Thomas Weston Jr. '06 were elected for another year. It was also announced that another scholarship would be awarded to another student next year.

The special guest of the evening was Dean Hurlburt, who in his talk praised the Harvard Club of this country as being of untold benefit to the university. Dean Hurlburt explained that last year at the college there were 25 boys enrolled, made possible by means of scholarships offered by various Harvard Clubs.

—"There is much danger continued for Harvard, that we shall try to educate the poor man, who isn't fitted for Harvard, and would spoil him for the job into which he should have gone."

Following his talk the members asked the Dean all questions, which he endeavored to answer, and William F. Garecon explained to the members, the athletic situation, which in all proved highly interesting.

—The meeting was one of the most successful ever held by the Club and was greatly enjoyed by all present.

SHOWER PARTY

The S. E. K. Society gave a shower party on Wednesday evening, the occasion being complimentary to Miss Esther Day, whose engagement to Mr. Tower of Auburndale has been recently announced.

It was a linen shower, and a company of members and friends numbering about fifteen, assembled at the residence of Miss Eleanor Eaton on Central street, Auburndale, where they were delightfully entertained during the evening with games, cards, and music.

In the dining room where refreshments were served, the decorations were red, and roses and carnations were used in effective arrangement on the table. Miss Day was presented with many beautiful and useful gifts from her club members.

BOSTON OPERA HOUSE—The Boston Opera Company during the coming week will add to its French repertory another opera which has not been sung in America hitherto,—"La Forêt Bleue" (The Blue Forest) by Louis Aubert. "La Forêt Bleue" is an ingeniously contrived combination of the three fairy stories known to every child, "Little Red Riding Hood," "Hop O' My Thumb" and "The Sleeping Princess." At the first performance set for Saturday afternoon, March 8, the principal parts will be as follows: Prince Charming, Fernand De Potter; The Ogre, Jean Riddez; Hop O' My Thumb, Jeaka Swartz; Little Red Riding Hood, Bernice Fisher; The Princess, Carmen Mells; The Fairy, Elizabeth Amsden. On Monday evening "The Girl of the Golden West" will be given its second performance of the season. The cast will be the usual one with Mme. Mells as the Girl and Zenatiello as the road agent. On Wednesday evening, Lucrezia Bori, the young Spanish-Italian soprano will return to sing Gilda in "Rigoletto" and an ideal exponent of the girlish heroine she should prove to be. Umberto Macrè, an Italian tenor, will make his first appearance in Boston as the Duke. On Thursday evening Dandat's "L'Arlesienne" with the complete incidental score composed by Bizet, will be given by Paul-Marcel and his company of French players, assisted by the full Opera House orchestra of 80 men under Andre-Caplet, and the complete chorus of 125. On Friday night there will be another performance of "The Jewels of the Madonna" with Mmes. Mells and Gay and MM. Zenatiello and Rossi, an all-Italian cast. On Saturday night, "Lucia di Lammermoor" will be repeated with Mme. Evelyn Scotney as Lucia, a part in which she has no peer. Mr. Russell has no greater drawing card for the popular Saturday performances than Mme. Scotney and this, her last appearance for the season, will bring out the usual enthusiastic "Scotney crowds."

BONCI-RHADSKA CONCERT

The concert in Symphony Hall next Sunday afternoon will be given by Alessandro Bonci, the greatest of Italian lyrical singers, assisted by Madame Rhadesta, a gifted young singer who will be heard in Symphony Hall for the first time. Bonci needs no introduction to the public of Boston and the surrounding towns. He is one of the classic figures of the concert stage of today. Madame Rhadesta is a very remarkable singer particularly as she is blind and has been blind since the age of thirteen. She is a coloratura soprano of whom very flattering things are said.

All interested in Lighting Fixtures for their home and public buildings should not fail to see the display of McKenney & Waterbury Co., No. 181 Franklin St., corner Congress, practical installers of Electric and Gas Lighting Fixtures, showing the latest eye saving Lighting Fixtures, including the new Equalite and Ray Line.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE—Never before in the history of amusements has any attraction created a greater sensation than the wonderful new Thomas A. Edison Talking Motion Pictures, which were placed on exhibition for the first time in Boston at B. F. Keith's Theatre last Monday. This latest invention of Mr. Edison's may well be called the greatest wonder of the twentieth century. For the second week a complete change of program will be presented, new subjects and new artists appearing in the wonderful pictures. The vaudeville show announced for next week is of the real all-star variety. Gus Edwards' Kid Kabaret, presented by Eddie Kantor, Hattie Kneitel, and a company of twenty clever kid comics, will present musical frolic called "A Kid Kabaret In Kidland," abounding in music, songs, imitations, and a number of striking novelties never before offered in vaudeville. Another important feature will be the return after two years' absence of Lillian Shaw. The husband and wife, tired with the work of the day, irritated that their wishes have not been carried out, that on them fall annoyance and duress which they feel should belong to others, that difficulties seem ever in their path, and so on, will perhaps voice their displeasure and strike a responsive note of irritation in the rest, and quickly the whole atmosphere is charged with the poison of bitterness and resentment.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE—Believe Me Xantippe grows steadily in popularity at the Castle Square. Its seventh week begins on Monday, and in its constant succession of comedy scenes the large audiences will continue to find occasion for plenty of laughter. Through each of its acts and scenes the humor of this latest Harvard prize play persists, and the occasional touches of melodrama and exciting incident give it an added interest. The scene in the Rocky mountain hunting shack is remarkable for its mingling of comedy and humor, and there is never a moment in the play when the adventures of George MacFarland cease to be followed with the keenest enjoyment.

MAKING THE HOME UNHAPPY

Too Frequent Losses of Temper result in Much Misery Which Might Easily Be Avoided.

Possessing apparently all the essentials that make for comfort, ease, and happiness, more than few homes fail to give this expected result, and someone has asked: What is generally the cause of this?

To put it very plainly, unnecessary exhibitions of temper more quickly than anything else mar the harmony of a home. There may not be open strife, but temper, as little rifts within the lute, give out incessant discords. Brothers and sisters, each, perhaps, with an unconscious craving to manage or suppress the other, may never have been taught to realize the powerful influence of tact, and their little comments and blusterings will quickly rouse disputes that may make the onlooking parents heart sick. The husband and wife, tired with the work of the day, irritated that their wishes have not been carried out, that on them fall annoyance and duress which they feel should belong to others, that difficulties seem ever in their path, and so on, will perhaps voice their displeasure and strike a responsive note of irritation in the rest, and quickly the whole atmosphere is charged with the poison of bitterness and resentment.

A little more care in restraining temper, especially about the trivial and nonessentials of happy existence, and the peace that should reign in a home, whatever its material setting, would more often be left undisturbed. Exhibitions of temper by children, no matter what the cause should always be taken as a fault to be eradicated. This does not crush the spirit of indignation at wrong, or weaken the fighting instinct, but it does aid in averting hasty judgments and give time for viewing the case from many points.—Exchange.

IS NO LONGER PUT FIRST

Much Truth About Health in Article That Probably Is Meant to Be Humorous.

Health is a matter which was once very popular, but it has long since grown into disfavor. In these strenuous days the securing of health consumes altogether too much time. I cannot be acquired without detriment from business. Not only does it interfere with business, but with pleasure as well.

Health requires too much sleep, too much fresh air, too much food of a vulgar simplicity and too many clothes which are more comfortable than stylish. Health is like anything else in order to have it one must give attention to securing it, but when the securing of money engrosses all one's time, manifestly health must take a back seat. We still have traditions about health much like traditions about the soul, but these take a secondary place. Doctors, like ministers, are called in only when it is too late.

Health made a manful struggle for supremacy with bank balances, but it lost out.—Life.

Hittites in History.

Students of history are deeply interested in the great progress which has recently been made in the discovery and interpretation of the art and religion of the ancient, mysterious and well-nigh forgotten Hittites, and their true relation and perspective in history. German excavation at Bog haz-Kenjü have shown that this long unknown town—probably the site of the Cappadocian city of Pteria—was for centuries the capital of a powerful kingdom, which, with its allies, was a dominant force in Asia, on equal terms with the rulers of Babylon and the Pharaohs, and driving them out of Syria.

The names of seven or eight Hatti kings have been preserved, and several of them are now more than names. Other finds give strong testimony to the influence of Babylonian culture as far north as Cappadocia, and show that a long period of development must have preceded the condition of society ruled over by these Hatti kings, some archeologist believing that it extended over more than 2,000 years.

Finger Stall for Child.

Every mother of a small son knows how well nigh impossible it is to keep a bandage on his finger. Also, how frequently little boys' fingers are injured by bandaging. Before throwing away old kid gloves cut off the good fingers for "finger stalls" for the boy. Cut the under side short, but let the top run back to the wrist of the glove; then split this strip to form straps to fasten around the child's wrist with a small safety pin. These stalls will be quite large enough to cover the bandaged finger of a small child and will save endless time and worry, says Mothers' Magazine. For larger children use fingers from man's glove.

Repairs.

It is perfect, when it effects its purpose with a double edge. Repairs is the highest order of wit, as it be speaks the coolest yet quickest exercise of genius, at a moment when the passions are roused.

Voltaire, on hearing the name of Haller mentioned to him by an English traveler at Ferney, burst forth into a violent panegyric upon him; his visitor told him that such praise was most disinterested, for that Haller by no means spoke so highly of him. "Well, well, n'importe," replied Voltaire, "perhaps we are both mistaken."

C. The rooms were very attractively decorated with Ward roses and jocquins, and a large company of guests were present from Boston, Brookline and the Newtons.

—DUVALL—BARBOUR

There was a very attractive wedding at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cook Barbour, on Phillips street, Auburndale last Wednesday evening, when their daughter Flora was married to Mr. Ernest Royal Duvall of Newton Upper Falls. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Ruth Barbour, as maid of honor and was given away by her father. Mr. Duvall had his brother, Leslie, as his best man, and the ceremony was performed by Rev. George S. Butters, D. D., of Auburndale. The house was decorated with palms and cut flowers and a collation was served at the close of the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Duvall, after a short wedding trip, will reside on Walnut street, Newtonville.

Disadvantages of Illiteracy.

When a soldier is confined in the guardroom for an offense, a written copy of the crime is invariably handed to the commander of the guard.

A corporal having given an order, one of the men seemed disinclined to obey, when, after having rebuked him sharply, he shouted in angry tones:

"It's a good job for you, me lad, that you can't spell 'insubordination,' or I'd show you in the 'clink' (guard-room) sharp!"—London Weekly Telegraph.

Personal Investigation.

An old woman walked into a bank in Inverness, threw down her deposit book, and said she wished to draw all her money. Having got it, she retired to a corner of the room and counted it. She then marched up to the teller, and exclaimed: "Ay, that'll do, ma man; just pit it back again. I only wanted to see if it was a' right."—Dundee News.

EDITORIAL

The Republican members of the Legislature will make a serious political blunder if they refuse to carry out the party platform, and fail to pass the constitutional amendment allowing woman's suffrage. The matter has now reached a stage where it is not a question of the right or wrong or of the expediency of woman's suffrage, but it is a question of keeping faith with the people who so thoroly endorsed the Republican legislative platform last fall. The political pulse is too feverish to attempt to repudiate the party platform in this year of grace, or disgrace, depending upon your point of view.

The citizens of Newtonville in general and the members of the Universal Society in particular, have good reason to regret the resignation of Rev. Albert Hammatt of that church. During his ten years of service here, Mr. Hammatt has won a warm place in the heart of the community by his ability, eloquence, tactfulness and geniality, and his departure will be deeply regretted.

Congratulations to our library trustees and the reading public on the completion of the improvements in the library building.

TELEGRAPH CHANGES*Telephone Company Makes Changes and Improves Service

Within the last six months the New England Telephone Company has made arrangements to take over the local business of the Western Union Telegraph Company and the telegraph offices in the Newton railroad station, and Newton Centre have been discontinued and the telegraph offices opened in the Newton North Telephone exchange on Elmwood street and the following branches which have been arranged for and will be open in two or three weeks. One at East Watertown, Newton Centre, Newton Corner and Newtonville.

As the Telephone Company comes under the new state law limiting its employees to 54 hours for a week's work, the telegraph offices are now closed at 6 P.M. and are not open as formerly between 7 and 8 P.M.

In place of this apparent restriction on the public convenience, the new arrangement gives every telephone subscriber, and incidentally, a study of the telegraph situation reveals the fact that 85 per cent of the business is from telephone subscribers—the free use of the telephone for sending telegrams at any time during the 24 hours, whereas under the old arrangement, there was a telephone toll made for such service between 8 P.M. and 8 A.M. In addition, the telegram is relayed to Boston, where the telegraph service is far superior to the limited number of telegraph wires from our local stations, and which were often congested with railroad business, as well.

For the 15 per cent of the business coming from the non-telephone subscribers, arrangements are being made as rapidly as possible to establish places where telegrams can be filed, and which will be sent off at once without payment of telephone toll. These stations will be located as far as possible in business places which are open until 10 P.M. and in that respect, will give several hours better service than formerly.

In the matter of delivering the new service is far superior to the old as telephone delivery can be made at once during any hour of the 24 to telephone subscribers, and the Company expect to deliver by messenger service during regular business hours, as formerly, to non-telephone subscribers, and after such business hours will undertake to deliver in some fashion, such important telegrams as may be received for that class of telegraph patrons.

Summing the matter up, it appears that the telephone subscribers are greatly benefited by the new arrangement, both in receiving and delivery of telegrams, while the small number of non-telephone subscribers who use the telegraph will have longer hours in which to send messages and will have undoubtedly—when final arrangements have been consummated—as good if not better delivery system than formerly.

THE BULL MOOSE*Cautious Comments on the Attitude of the New Party

From Springfield Republican.

Boston, Sunday, Feb. 23.

Last evening's remarkable bull moose demonstration in the South Armory made clear two highly important things—that there is going to be a very unusual political campaign this fall and that the mooses are going to have an amount of money utterly beyond democratic ability to equal and ample enough to make Chairman Hatfield green with envy. More than this, since Massachusetts is the only state of the United States to elect a full state ticket and legislature this fall—for New Jersey does not go, the full figure—all the party resources in the nation will be drawn upon for the battle here. Massachusetts will be the cockpit in which a national battle for prestige will be fought and we must expect that men and money from all other states, if necessary, will be poured in here freely in addition to the exceptional numbers and sums they can raise here from their own resources.

All this was foreshadowed by their speeches and placards last evening. Hence it is, for all our people, a matter of high political moment that this bull moose phenomenon be rightly understood so that the voters may estimate it at its true value. Its real nature, its merits and its defects. Let me put a long period of political observation and experience at the service of the public.

Bull moose enthusiasm is a phenomenon which commands attention by its prevalence and intensity. By the way, we are justified in using that animal simile because their trick of imitating bellowings as applause shows how well the term fits and how much they like it. This phenomenon is a psychological disturbance such as the world has seen many times before. It is to be classed with the Salem witchcraft craze and with periods of great religious excitement which at times sweep through extensive areas exerting influence and producing effects totally outside of ordinary human experience. These bull mooses are no more in a normal frame of mind than is a Malay running amok or a Methodist camp-meeting in the hands of skillful revivallists.

In detail let it be noted that Matthew Hale spoke the exact truth last night when he said that for the most part the progressives are new to politics. With the exception of a few who have been prominent in political activity the entire company—and it seems to have about as many women as men—is a wholly new section of our people in politics. They know little or nothing of what has been done in politics before them. They are ignorant of the fact that generations of reformers, public spirited, self-sacrificing and active—have been trying to solve our political problems, to restrain the exploiting hand of wealth, to protect the weak, to save the children, to guard the women, to relieve the aged and to secure good pay for all. As newcomers with no history the mooses burst upon the political stage and imagine that they are the whole show. They see the evils of the times and, because the evils exist, assume that nobody else has noticed or made any effort to remove them. But the mooses do not know the facts and they do not understand themselves. Their cause is much simpler and less complimentary to them than they suppose.

Most of the mooses have hitherto been of republican sympathies as far as they have taken interest in politics. A small proportion has been democratic. The plain truth now is that the moose party has been formed and is easily nothing but straight and pure democratic in every respect but one. This is easily proved. Their great stock in trade, as shown by their resolutions adopted last night, by their bills in the Legislature and by their platform, is what may be termed uplift propositions—help for women, prevention of child labor, minimum wage, old age pensions, initiative and referendum, sanitary measures, shorter hours and so on. Now that field is rightfully, historically and really now the possession of the democratic party. The genesis and progress of this kind of legislation is perfectly well known. Ever since the civil war it has been under way. It does not begin with philanthropists, which the mooses are, by any means. It begins with the poor people who are suffering for lack of the reforms demanded. The history is long, continuous, full of both discouragement and encouragement of the workers. It goes back to the struggle for the 10-hour day. It deals with the oppressive factory-store extortion, the weekly payment of wages, the employees liability law, the opening of factory doors outward, the construction of fire escapes, the protection of machinery and a hundred more highly necessary and important measures. These always originate with the poor people to be helped.

Help has always been given by the democratic party. Never has it failed them. It has always been on the job, faithfully and without relaxation. In the face of repeated defeat and discouragement the labor men and the democrats have toiled on, year after year, having a good cause and, at last, persuading enough of the liberal end of the republican party to secure a majority vote by the combined forces. Then, when the victory has been won the republican politicians, fishing for labor votes, have always claimed the credit to the republicans because that party was a majority of the Senate and House and therefore was responsible for all legislation. This has been the habitual course of the republican leaders ever since the civil war and it has been illustrated flagrantly in every year's campaign since the bull mooses became of voting age. If these mooses had shown in the past a tenth of the interest they show now these reforms would have been secured years ago.

Cards are out for the wedding of Miss Annie A. Skelton to Mr. Charles E. Fish of Waltham, the ceremony to take place on Tuesday evening, March 25th, at 8 o'clock at St. John's Episcopal Church.

The regular monthly meeting of the Social Service League of the Newton Hospital was held Tuesday morning in the New Church parlors. The next meeting will be held Tuesday afternoon, March 25th.

The Knights of King Arthur of the Central Church gave a very successful pop concert and dance Saturday evening in Temple Hall, at which there was a large attendance. The matrons were Mrs. Wallace C. Boyden, Mrs. Edward C. Wyatt, Mrs. C. Boyden, Mrs. Charles D. Meserve, get most of the reasons for the new party. Most of them have been republicans. They have their old prejudice against the democracy and their ignorance of its true function. They have just waked up to the situation. The only new element in the case is their new self-consciousness. Theirs is the guilt of neglect and lack of sympathy hitherto. Wage-earners have been toiling, suffering, struggling for relief for a whole generation just as much as now and these people have turned deaf ears, have not opened either heart or purse or recognized the bond of common humanity till now when the craze of the new movement is in their brains, when they can rush to the front, pose as leaders and reformers, flatter their own vanity and impose upon the public.

In one essential respect only are the progressives not on solid democratic ground. Having been republicans, most of them are protectionists. The sole and only distinction which gives the name progressive, is that they are not at all progressive, but are reactionary, back in the darkness of the Middle Ages. They have been beneficiaries of the tariff so much as republicans that they have no conception of the justice and possibilities of unfettered trade, nor do they see that it is as immoral and as uneconomic to exploit the public for the benefit of the wage-earners of a few industries as for the benefit of capital. But in the main, the mooses have become straight democrats. If their stupidity were not larger than the sum of their party and their humanity, and if their political frankness were not deficient, they would ally themselves with one or the other of the great parties—for the republicans are "now ready to make large concessions—and secure the adoption of their reforms, instead of forming a third party, with its risk of remaining a minority. In the nature of our politics, the new party has no reason of being.

Mr. Bird's case deserves attention by itself. Last evening I heard his attack upon our state government. It was very old and familiar. Who had made it? Benjamin F. Butler. Thirty years ago this very year, night after night, week after week, in many places in central and eastern Massachusetts, when Butler was on the stump, was I at the edge of the platform below him, reporting his lies, his suppression of the truth, his suggestion of the false, his ignorance, his recklessness, his demagogery and his outgrowths of self-conceited ambition. Bird's speech was the same old attack on the state government. It had not the glimmer of a new idea, nor any originality of statement. It was the old cry of many commissions, of much expense, of extravagance, of abuse of the people and of need that the critle be let in to make reforms. Bird was as reckless and as ignorant as Butler. He was equally lacking in facts to back up his statements. He was equally unfamiliar with the subject. He did not realize that for many years the statehouse administration has been in the white limelight of constant political attacks. He differs from Butler because everybody believes him to be absolutely honest and public spirited. He lacks Butler's internal cunning and is not the public danger that Butler was. But his speech was along Butler's lines and as unworthy of acceptance. Bird himself is new to public life. Son of a father who was an extreme of public spirit and self-sacrificing activity, brought up under influences which would naturally lead him into public life, he has until now never taken part in politics or been known as a heavy campaign contributor. Other men have worked where he has neglected his duty and now that he has last waked up, he assumes that they have done nothing or have been guilty of malfeasance in office.

In his effort to stir up the people last evening, Bird charged that extravagance of our state government is paid for by the poor people, and said that the man who pays $10 a month, really pays his share of the waste in the form of rent. A week ago yesterday, Deputy Tax Commissioner Charles A. Andrews at the Twentieth Century club, said that the wealth of the state escapes taxation and that the state government is supported by taxes upon the property of the state. Taxation is in more urgent need of reform than any other one thing in the state. But the mooses do not mention it in their program. Yet if Bird and Andrews are right, if people only paid their taxes, there would be relief from the many burdens resting on the poor. It is fair judgment, therefore, to hold that a moose is a hypocrite unless he makes the sworn return of all his taxable property to the assessors as the law requires.

Last night's liberal subscriptions prove that the mooses are largely of the moneyed class, and that is the class which dodges the taxes. They demand reforms which appeal to sympathy, but they show no disposition to stand up in the cold, the silence and the loneliness of a disagreeable political duty and do the thing which is doubtless the most important thing they can do to serve the public and relieve the poor.

Last night's crowd was a conclusive demonstration of the whimsical and unreliable

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURR, Editor.

The readers of the General Federation Bulletin were given a surprise not long since when the January number came to them in an entirely new form and even under a new name, that of General Federation Magazine. The editorial and publication offices have been moved to New York and while the same corps of editors has been retained, Dr. Edward J. Wheeler, editor of Current Literature, has joined to the staff as consulting editor. The change of size of page is along the line of that of various magazines. Whether or not it is an improvement is a question. In addition to the usual news from the General Federation, according to the announcement, it will contain "the news of the woman's movement in all parts of the world, in its intellectual, industrial, political, social and artistic aspects. All sides of all important questions of vital interest to thinking women will be presented impartially." The success of the venture remains to be seen but it would seem as if the primary object of the old Bulletin, namely, to spread abroad news of the general Federation and of the State Federations is in danger of being lost sight of in this entrance into broader fields.

A group of songs by Mrs. Tewksbury closed an interesting afternoon.

The Monday Club of Newton Highlands met at the home of Mrs. Philip Sweetser, of Lincoln street, on February 24th. Miss Helen Holmes of Plymouth gave a talk on "Massachusetts Hallans." In part she said: "No story of present day Massachusetts is complete without mention of the Italian. We must not ignore these often considered alien people, pouring into the melting pot of our country, our future citizens. Once established here they do not feel themselves foreign. Is it true that we have nothing in common with these Italians? Most of the art and literature of England and later of our country feels the Italian influence. We must not forget that these people, who come over here from Italy, are many of them fitted to do some fine craftsman work, such as wood carving, lace making, leather gilding and embossing, embroidery, basketry, flaggery, silver work, mosaic making and weaving. Public spirited people have gathered samples of the various kinds of work done in Italy and have solicited trade for the craftsmen and women. It takes a Jane Addams to see the true inwardness of the foreign character. We can help those strange to our ways of cleanliness and hygiene to live safer lives. The young girls are being taught both in school and at the settlement houses, and this is beginning to work. An important fact, which should not be lost sight of is that the Italians in the state have no church influence."

Miss Charlotte Ebbets of Simmons College gave a very instructive talk on "What Domestic Science can do for the Home." She divided her talk into three parts, speaking of shelter, raiment and food. She spoke of the selection of the home, the one tone color scheme for a small house, and the best methods of lighting, plumbing and heating. In treating of color she said that the textile industry had become very important. She discussed the fibres, the results obtained by microscopic tests of cotton, wool, linen and silk, and also by simple tests like burning. The origin of different materials was described and those absorbing moisture, those taking dyes well and the ones with durable qualities were spoken of. Then she told of five forms of adulterations commonly practised in the manufacture of cloths. Turning to the subject of food, she discussed the pure food laws, the necessity of eating according to occupation and the need of organized labor in the home. A tea and social hour pleasantly ended the afternoon.

On Tuesday evening, Mrs. Susan W. Fitzgerald addressed the Club on Woman Suffrage or Equal Suffrage as she said she preferred to call it for the movement now has men as well as women behind it and is really a movement of good citizenship and of general importance. She said that women were striving to gain the vote as a tool rather than a right, a change by which to improve conditions. She also said that the same objections are given today as fifty years ago when people didn't wish girls to have schooling, later a college education and the right to enter professions and they really come from an instinctive objection to change. She spoke of the equal suffrage question as the third step saying that first there was trouble over class distinctions, then race distinctions and now sex distinctions. Questions and a discussion followed this interesting talk.

At the meeting of the Social Science Club on Wednesday morning, James O. Fagan addressed the members and guests upon "Social Democracy and the Class War—the laborers doing something for themselves." Under this subject he dwelt particularly upon the latter topic, the laborers doing something for themselves, as he has seen it in the railroad business. Before the time of labor unions among railroad men, the men were killed by the score and conditions were generally bad. The movement to form unions was a reasonable revolt against intolerable conditions. In 1882, when Mr. Fagan entered the railroad business, the employee was an unfortunate individual. At the present day there are about 17,000 men employed on the American railroads and about 80 per cent are organized. The schedules laid down by the unions have worked wonders. Today every man has his definite work beyond which he cannot step. Illustrations were given showing how the schedule work abuses, but on the other hand, the condition of the men has been benefited. Today the weakest is treated the same as the strongest. There is a regular schedule of promotions decided upon, not by the railroad managers, but by the union leaders. No man can be transferred to a similar position in another division, instead there must be a regular promotion for the men of that division. For example, Mr. Fagan said that he could not have been transferred from the tower where he was employed to an electric tower without beginning there as an office boy, even though he had been in the employ of the road for thirty-five years. He touched upon the conditions among the firemen and explained the recent situation.

In regard to public ownership of railroads he cited conditions in France, which show that since the government has taken the control they have been more costly. For instance, the number out on sick leave has steadily increased, for the obvious reason that in case of sickness the men receive full pay.

In speaking of the I. W. W., he said that it differs from the other systems, in that it declares war upon capital and attempts to tear down the social structure and to build it anew. It is striving to form a new social structure in the shell of the old. Syndicalism on the other hand is a co-operative movement, which seeks to bring about the disappearance of capital. In Mr. Fagan's opinion anything but a very modified form would be out of place in America.

In closing he said that the industrial chaos of the present day contains within itself the germs of cure. He does not look for any great revolution, but considers that the desire to better conditions that is evident on every hand will in the end bring about the desired result.

Mr. Fagan was listened to with close attention and many questions showed the interest which his talk had aroused.

Newton Federation

The Mid-Winter meeting of the Newton Federation was held at the Technical High School on Wednesday afternoon. By invitation of the Education committee of the Newton Federation the Education department of the State Federation arranged a conference to consider the subjects of Moral Education and the Montessori Method of Instruction.

Mrs. L. S. Drake, chairman of the Newton Education committee, was in the chair in the absence of Mrs. G. H. Wilkins. She extended a welcome to the guests and told of the work of her committee for this year. Mrs. Emily E. Brown, chairman of the State Federation department, presided during the rest of the afternoon. Mrs. Brown spoke of the work of her department, saying that forty clubs have reported forming Home and School Association; among other things which her department is urging, is interest in vocational education, in scholarships, in international peace, better daily newspapers, school visitation, and the raising of the standard of the moving picture theatres.

Mrs. Claude U. Gilson, who was to have spoken upon the first subject, was detained on account of illness and her place was filled by Mrs. Clara Bancroft Bentley of Roxbury, who spoke upon "Moral through Reverence." Mrs. Bentley said in part that reverence is the keynote of morals, it being the deep feeling, the seeing clearly something noble, true, and high. We need to teach the children to see the true and the beautiful, the wonderful truth about the body, the need of sleep, of recreation. Proper reverence teaches consideration. The boy and girl should be taught consideration for others, to respect the aged, that man is the natural protector of the girl and that she should be a noble influence among her companions.

An appreciation for sacred places should be instilled into young people, the sacredness of the home, the Church, the schools, the State, reverence for places where life has been sacrificed for a noble cause. A true reverence thus engendered gives us a constantly renewed call to perfection. Before closing Mrs. Bentley touched upon the subject of Eugenics, the science of being well born, and the necessity of doing more and more for the ancestors of the generations to come. To accomplish the desired end, wonderful self-control is required, and young people should be taught that this is the age of self-control.

Mrs. Henry Coolidge Mulligan, president of the State Federation, upon being called upon, said that she should relate this subject of Moral Education to the schools, since the previous speaker had related it to the home. As time has gone on more and more instruction has been taken out of the home and relegated to the school and from fear of teaching sectarianism in the schools the teaching of religion and morals has been relegated to the church. And what can the church do in one short hour a week? The schools have taken over many of these things because they were not done in the homes. Morals and religion are not the same thing. Morals can be taught in the schools. Now, if we are going to require our teachers to teach morals, we must be extremely careful in selecting the kind of teacher to do this. The first qualification should be personality, for example goes with precept, and it is impossible to teach morals out of a text book. She cited as examples Mary Lyon and Alice Freeman Palmer, teachers whose very atmosphere made for better living.

A short time was given to questions and discussion in which was brought out the necessity of creating public sentiment and of laying upon the mothers the responsibility of moral and religious teaching in the homes. The remainder of the time was given to a presentation of the Montessori Method of Instruction by Miss Harriet C. Gould of Brookline, who has been a student of Madame Montessori in Rome. Madame Montessori claims that it is irrational to train a child to dependence. If the individual is to live an independent life, all training must tend in that direction from birth. She places children of many ages in the same room, has child's sized furniture, light and easily carried about; in respect to discipline, the children are allowed to do anything that does not disturb anyone else, being given the liberty that is found in everyday life. Each child works absolutely independently and progresses quickly or slowly according to its ability. The speaker told how she has adapted it to her work in Brookline and described some of the schools she visited in Italy where the principles are being carried out.

A social hour followed in the library where those present had opportunity to meet Mrs. Mulligan and the speakers. Refreshments were served by the social committee, Mrs. F. E. Anderson, chairman. The three vice-presidents of the Federation, Mrs. Fiske, Mrs. Hartlett and Mrs. Andrews, and Mrs. Palmer, president of the Newtonville Guild, Mrs. F. H. Stewart, of the Newton Centre Woman's Club, and Mrs. C. F. Rogers, Jr., of the Florian Club, presided over the tables.
